Midas 'Spy' Rocket Shot Is Failure

Second Stage Does Not Separate And Missile Burns

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The United States attempted to launch a huge military "spy" satellite into orbit Friday but the experiment was wrecked by rocket failure.

A blazing Atlas missile boosted the 24-ton Midas satellite into position for a low-flying orbit but the second stage did not separate and the entire assembly was consumed by friction heat as it dived back into the atmosphere 2,500 miles down range.

Radio contact was partially lost soon after the blastoff and for more than three hours the fate of the satellite was unknown. Then the Air Force disclosed the failure.

Ends In Failure

An attempt to launch a 14-ton Polaris missile also ended in failure when the range safety officer had to destroy it 90 seconds after it was fired.

The huge 28-foot Polaris veered off course high in the sky. There had been six successful tests previously of the Polaris with each hitting within a city block of its target over a 900-mile range.

The Midas "spy in the sky" satellite was equipped with an infra-red scanning device capable of spotting and reporting almost instantly on the launching of ballistic missiles.

This first experimental satellite was not aimed for a course over Soviet territory. Its practice mission was to test its equipment on missile launches from Cape Canaveral and Vandenberg Air Force Base in California.

Series Expected

By next year, however, a series of six or eight of these satellites parading in line through space are expected to provide complete and constant scanning of the earth's entire surface.

By flashing almost instant warning of the blastoff of enemy missiles, they could give this nation 30 minutes to prepare for nuclear bombardment, to send retaliatory rockets on the way, and to get many people into shelter.

Midas, which stands for missile defense alarm system, is the first U.S. satellite scheduled purely for military uses. Most details about it are held secret by the Air Force.

Motive Sought In Fatal Shooting

BALTIMORE (AP) — Police sought a motive Friday for the fatal shooting of Robert Kelsal Morris, 48, in South Baltimore. The man was found dead behind a tavern.

His wrist watch and $15 in cash were on the body.

Stephen Reisinger told police he and his wife heard two shots and saw a man get up from a crouched position beside a parked car on a lot in the rear of the tavern and flee.

Morris was a pumper for the American Oil Co. and the father of five children.

Battle Begins On Catch-All Money Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $229.175,864 catch-all appropriation bill signaled the opening Friday of war between Congress and the Capitol Hill starlings.

The bill includes $35,000 to pay for an electronic hot-foot system to be installed on the Supreme Court building, a favorite perch for the estimated 35,000 starlings and pigeons occupying Capitol Hill.

After several years of refusing to finance the antibird battle, the House Appropriations Committee yielded to pleas that if the birds were dislodged from the Supreme Court building they would simply move to the Capitol.

The committee's action disclosed a hitherto well-kept secret. Current construction work on the Capitol includes installation of an electric antibird network.

The Supreme Court's startling startler is scheduled for installation by next September, if the $35,000 is approved. It's a safe bet that Congress will have its own system operating by then, leaving the birds no sanctuary on Capitol Hill.

Since the electronic device does not kill the birds but makes them extremely unhappy, they will want to go elsewhere, perhaps to nearby Union Station of the Government Printing Office.

While approving the full amount requested for bird control, the committee chopped $779,222,400 from over-all money requests of President Eisenhower.

The largest cut was 675 million dollars from funds for the Commodity Credit Corp.

The free spending sent police to Joe's home. His shoes fitted the footprint perfectly.

The footprint was scarcely more than four inches long, which was understandable. Joe is only eight years old. He told cops his buddies were Bob Callow, 14, and Vince Guglielmo, 13.

Police totted up the score—$130 from a tavern, and smaller takes from homes, small stores, laundromats, doctors' offices and the like. Once Joe did a loner and picked up $30 and a pistol which he gave to Callow.

That added a firearms rap to Callow. It was burglary and larceny for Little Joe and Vince.

The spending binge of Joe and the gang, detective Jim Ryan of the juvenile division explained, was in candy shops. And, Ryan continued, Joe was the gang's eyes. He'd look the places over and then squeeze through tight windows to open up.

"They pulled the jobs between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. so they wouldn't be picked up as curfew violators," Ryan said. "Many a time little Joe was sent home with his bottom tingling. The police would whack his pants when they saw him shinning up rain spouts. It looked like kid's fun."

Drug Hearings Are Suspended

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate hearings on drug industry practices were suspended indefinitely Friday with a statement by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) that slanted advertising claims present an intolerable situation.

Kefauver said it was clear from testimony that disagreements between medical and advertising men over advertising claims were not always settled in favor of the physicians.

That this is a bad and intolerable situation is recognized by the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Assn. in its own code of ethics, Kefauver said. Quoting the code's declaration that all medical claims in promotional material should have medical review before being released, Kefauver said rigorous enforcement of the code "would be a good place to begin."

"If they do not do so," Kefauver said, "I have no doubt that the Congress, or an agency of government, will do it for them."

Kefauver is chairman of an antitrust and monopoly subcommittee that has been investigating pricing and other practices in the drug industry.

Debate Finals Set Saturday

WASHINGTON (AP) —The University of Maryland, Ohio State and Findlay College, Ohio, will be represented Saturday in the persuasive speaking contest during the Capitol Hill Debate tournament.

The three finalists that will speak in the Senate Caucus room will be Mrs. Jackie Crews, Maryland; Miss Harriet Wain, Ohio State; and Allan Jones, Findlay College.

Senator Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.), Associate Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark and several other guests of the tournament will judge the three finalists.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The newspaper Ultimas Noticias reports a member of the Cuban Embassy here regularly seizes all newspapers on incoming Cuban planes that do not support Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime.

Experts Hunt For Clues From Plane Crash

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Experts hunted deep in Guanabara Bay Friday for clues to the cause of the air collision that took 61 lives and cast a pall over President Eisenhower's trip to Brazil.

One of the planes was a U.S. Navy transport bringing 19 star members of the Navy band here to play at a dinner the President gave Thursday for President Juscelino Kubitschek of Brazil. It collided with a Brazilian airliner over the bay. There were only three survivors, all Navy men.

The two planes broke up and spiraled out of the overcast into the water as thousands of horrified Brazilians looked on from shore.

Two U.S. Navy experts arrived from Washington to help investigate the disaster. The United States declined all comment.

The Brazilian Air Ministry issued a statement saying the two planes had been cleared by the control tower for landing paths separated by a safe difference in altitude.

"It is up to the official investigating commission to determine whether there was a failure of an instrument on board or a maneuver not authorized by the control organism," the ministry said.

The planes were supposed to be traveling different air corridors about 1,000 feet apart.

The passenger plane, a twin-engine Real airliner with 26 aboard, was cleared to fly at 1,500 meters—about 5,000 feet—into Santos Dumont Airport downtown. The Navy plane, a four-engine B6D, was supposed to fly at 1,800 meters—almost 6,000 feet—and was heading for Galeao Airport, a few miles away on an island in the bay.

Aviation experts suggested two possible causes: 1. One of the planes might have been depending on a faulty altimeter or 2. There might have been human failure in reporting altitude.

The survivors were reported improving at the Navy Hospital. They were Sonarman 2.C. Frederick E. Wilson of Dallas, Tex.; Aviation Ordnanceman 1.C. H. R. Halenza of Norfolk, Va., and Lt. (jg) G. P. Fitzgibbons of Worcester, Mass.

They were members of a Navy antisubmarine team sent to Argentina to help the Argentine navy hunt a mystery submarine. No sub was found, and the men were returning home. All told, the Navy plane carried 19 bandsmen, 10 members of the antisubmarine team, 2 other Navy passengers and a crew of 7.

Tanker Crewmen Drink Alcohol, Die

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — Four crewmen aboard the Swedish tanker Cassiopeia died Thursday night after drinking denatured alcohol. Eight others were treated for mild alcohol poisoning when the ship made an emergency stop here Friday. Capt. Thorsten Hogberg said the men had become sick after drinking from a bottle distributed by a Japanese firm just after the ship left Tokyo.

Khrushchev Blasts Japan, SEATO Pact

Speech Is Heard In Silence By Indonesia Leaders

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev told Indonesia's parliament Friday that Asia and Africa should be represented at the summit. But, he added, "maybe the time is not yet ripe."

The touring Soviet leader bitterly criticized Japan, supported Indonesia's claims to Dutch West New Guinea, lambasted the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, denounced colonialism, and preached coexistence and world disarmament.

His 46-minute speech, read by an interpreter after Khrushchev had spoken the opening paragraphs, was received mostly in silence by an audience of 300, including foreign diplomats.

Sukarno Not Present

President Sukarno, Khrushchev's host and guide during his 12-day tour, was not present.

Khrushchev declared Sukarno's bid for representation at the summit "is the only one which is right." He said other summit members had turned down a Soviet proposal to include neutral nations like India, and "maybe the time is not yet ripe to arrange a more representative summit conference."

But the Big Four meeting in Paris in May will lead to wider talks where African-Asian nations will have their say, he said.

Khrushchev's main theme was peace and disarmament. He said economically backward countries would benefit if the arms race were halted and the money diverted to aid.

He recommended general and complete disarmament and "extensive control of it."

Japan's signing of a new joint U.S. security agreements threatens world peace, he declared, adding a proverb: "If you sow wind, surely you will yield a storm."

Questions Japan

By permitting foreign—meaning U.S.—military bases on its soil, he asked if Japan intended to carry out its plan of the 1920s for the conquest of Asia.

Khrushchev called the eight-nation SEATO alliance a dangerous kind of collective colonialism and accused it of "provocations and conspiracies against Indonesia, in Cambodia and Laos."

Applause broke out only once, when Khrushchev said the Soviet Union supports Indonesia in its struggle to get possession of West Irian, or West New Guinea, from The Netherlands.

Van Rie Again Denies Slaying

BOSTON (AP) — Dutch radio operator Willem Van Rie made a final, unwavering denial Friday that he beat Lynn Kauffman and threw her off his ship to drown. Thus he ended nearly three full days on the witness stand at his first-degree murder trial.

Earlier, he had denied shoving the girl unconscious through her cabin porthole so he could toss her overboard unobserved last Sept. 18.

The handsome, 31-year-old Van Rie told again of a false admission he said he gave police during grueling duress just before his arrest in the girl's death.

Asst. Dist. Atty. John F. McAuliffe then asked: "And didn't you say, 'Now I have stuck my neck completely into a hole'?"

"Yes, sir," Van Rie replied. "And that's because you beat this girl unconscious and dumped her over the rail," McAuliffe shouted.

"No more questions," McAuliffe told Superior Court Judge Frank U. Murray, and Van Rie stepped down from the witness stand at 3:41 p.m. He began his testimony in midmorning, Wednesday.

The next defense witness was John A. Bossen of Mackay Radio & Telegraph Co., Inc. of New York. He testified his station WSL on Long Island, N.Y., sent out at 7 p.m. Sept. 18 the identical weather message Van Rie entered in his ship's radio log for that hour—which is the time the state says he sent Miss Kauffman to her death.

Nation Is Slugged By Winter Storm

By United Press International

An Atlantic-bound winter storm pounded New England Friday with heavy snows, lashing winds and high tides. In its 1,500-mile wake, midwesterners struggled with snow drifts up to 10 feet high and southerners shivered in a crop-destroying cold wave.

Up to eight inches of snow slugged northern New Hampshire and Maine and weathermen warned that up to four more inches would fall before the nation's latest winter storm put to sea.

Gale warnings were hoisted all along the New England coast. The surf was running so high that a 10-year-old boy was washed to his death from a sea wall at Lynn, Mass.

Fresh snow also fell in Michigan, where winds piled Thursday's fall into 10-foot drifts, clogging many roads and forcing more than 100 schools to remain closed Friday.

In Indiana the deep snow stalled hundreds of motorists and stranded jurors in a manslaughter trial at their homes near Lafayette, forcing a trial recess.

However, even the highway-barricading snowdrifts failed to halt Indiana's annual siege of "Hoosier Madness." Sixty-four high school basketball tournaments were run off on schedule Thursday night in the state's annual tournament.

The three-day weather death toll climbed to 33. United Press International counted 6 dead in Arkansas, 4 each in Indiana and Louisiana, 3 each in Ohio, Illinois and Wisconsin, 2 each in Oklahoma and Montana and 1 each in Missouri, Kentucky, Colorado, Washington, Michigan and Massachusetts.

The mercury dipped near or below freezing in the Deep South. Temperatures moderated under

Senate Faces Long Sessions

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate voted 67-10 Friday to back up plans of leaders of both parties for around-the-clock sessions aimed at cracking a Southern filibuster against civil rights legislation.

Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) said he had forced the vote because "I do not want to have the blood on my hands" if, as he put it, any accident should befall someone during nonstop sessions due to start Monday.

The vote was not a clear-cut test. The quarterback of the Southern forces, Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), called Johnson's maneuver "a straw man erected to be knocked down."

The vote came on the question of whether the Senate should meet only until 5 p.m. EST Monday instead of staying in session around the clock.

Johnson said he had made a motion to adjourn at that hour so that the majority of the Senate could express its will. Johnson himself voted against it.

Students Build Atom Smasher

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Nearly two years ago a handful of zealous pupils at Central High School resolved to build an atom-smash

The physics teacher, Fred Hofkin, had received a grant of $300 from the Heart Assn. of Southeastern Pennsylvania for research. So what better course than to set about making a cyclotron, capable of producing radioactive isotopes for research and treatment of heart and other diseases?

Central, being a strictly academic school, has no shop. So the boys decided to build their cyclotron in the basement furnace room.

The boys begged and borrowed materials from coast to coast. A California electronics firm gave $160 worth of vacuum pipe and fittings. The University of Pennsylvania lent a one-ton coil of copper wire, blown glass and other special parts.

Last fall Hofkin, an inspiration to the pupils took a teaching job elsewhere. But he gave all his spare time to the dedicated group of boys at Central.

Thursday, Central High took the wraps off the cyclotron, which builds up an internal speed of up to 40,000 miles a second and has a magnetic force of 16,000 units known as gauss. In a preliminary test, the mechanism blasted its protons right on target.

Princess Margaret Rose Engaged To Photographer

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret, after Queen Elizabeth's romance put the shadow of a broken three children. The engagement bulletin from Clarence House, Margaret's London home across the mall from Buckingham Palace, said no date for the wedding has been set.

The announcement said: "It is with the greatest of pleasure that both the Queen and the Queen Mother announce the betrothal of her beloved daughter, the Princess Margaret, to Mr. Antony Charles Armstrong-Jones, son of Mr. R.O.L. Armstrong-Jones, Q.C. and the Countess of Rosse, to which union the Queen has gladly given her consent."

Q.C. designates a queen's counsel, an honored lawyer.

Margaret told her sister, the Queen, of the engagement instantly. She and Prince Philip were said by a Buckingham Palace spokesman to be "delighted because this is such a happy match."

Also informed in advance were Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Hugh Gaitskell, leader of the opposition Labor party.

Gets Biggest Welcome In Buenos Aires

Nearly Million Are On Hand; Police Use Gas In Disturbance

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — President Eisenhower heard the cheers of perhaps a million Argentines Friday but ran into Peronista demonstrations that brought police tear gas into play at one point. The President could get a whiff of the gas as he left the Argentine Congress after an address.

The demonstrations by followers of ex-dictator Juan D. Peron failed, however, to overshadow the enthusiastic welcome, the biggest and warmest yet on Eisenhower's South American trip.

U. E. Baughman, chief of the U.S. Secret Service, estimated the crowd at 750,000 to a million—several hundred thousand more than had greeted Eisenhower in Brazil's two biggest cities.

Bombs Explode

To start the day, five bombs exploded in Buenos Aires, injuring three people. Supporters of Peron usually are blamed for frequent bomb blasts linked with Argentina's constant political turmoil.

A few Peron demonstrators marred Eisenhower's parade through the city, but the worst came after the parade had ended, as he was leaving the Congress building.

Shortly before Eisenhower's car was due to pass an intersection near the Congress building one group of demonstrators raised a banner proclaiming: "Ike Peronista." Another group of people quickly shouted "Ike is a democrat. . . . Ike is no dictator."

The shouts led to blows and police moved in brandishing clubs and firing tear gas. They brought the disturbance under control before Eisenhower's car reached the scene, but his car moved through the still drifting gas.

Police Arrest 12

About 150 persons were involved. Police arrested 12.

When Eisenhower went into the Congress building a group of about 500 Peronistas shouted slogans at a battled police. Some broke through police lines but were speedily rounded up.

Trucks rushed reinforcements to the area and police formed a solid wall, interlocking their arms, to keep the demonstrators back.

Despite the violence, the welcome given Eisenhower in this Argentine capital far surpassed what many Americans here had expected in the light of Argentina's neutrality in World War II and the relative reserve of the people as compared with the Brazilians.

After a decorous start, the crowd put their hearts into a rip-roaring greeting that was easily the biggest and warmest of Eisenhower's four-nation South American tour.

"Welcome Ike," they shouted, waving handkerchiefs and U.S. and Argentine flags. "Hurrah for democracy! Hurrah for Ike!"

From his open bubble-top car, Eisenhower grinned and waved back with his arms extended overhead. The outbursts of popular exuberance developed during Eisenhower's six-mile drive from the U.S. Embassy residence on the broad, tree-lined Avenue Libertador San Martin to Casa Rosada, the pink government house, for a formal call on President Arturo Frondizi.

Escorted By Grenadiers Eisenhower was escorted by mounted grenadiers of President Arturo Frondizi's honor guard, the pink government house, for a formal call on President Arturo Frondizi.

The planes were supposed to be traveling different air corridors about 1,000 feet apart.

The passenger plane, a twin-engine Real airliner with 26 aboard, was cleared to fly at 1,500 meters—about 5,000 feet—into Santos Dumont Airport downtown. The Navy plane, a four-engine R6D, was supposed to fly at 1,800 meters—almost 6,000 feet—and was heading for Galeao Airport, a few miles away on an island in the bay.

Aviation experts suggested two possible causes: 1. One of the planes might have been depending on a faulty altimeter or 2. There might have been human failure in reporting altitude.

The survivors were reported improving at the Navy Hospital. They were Sonarman 2 C. Frederick E. Wilson of Dallas, Tex.; Aviation Ordnanceman 1 C. H. R. Halen of Norfolk, Va., and Lt. (jg) G. P. Fitzgibbons of Worcester, Mass.

They were members of a Navy antisubmarine team sent to Argentina to help the Argentine navy hunt a mystery submarine. No sub was found, and the men were returning home. All told, the Navy plane carried 19 bandmen, 10 members of the antisubmarine team, 2 other Navy passengers and a crew of 7.

Tanker Crewmen Drink Alcohol, Die

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — Four crewmen aboard the Swedish tanker Cassiopeia died Thursday night after drinking denatured alcohol. Eight others were treated for mild alcohol poisoning when the ship made an emergency stop here Friday. Capt. Thorsten Hogberg said the men had become sick after drinking from a bottle distributed by a Japanese firm just after the ship left Tokyo.

Khrushchev Blasts Japan, SEATO Pact

Speech Is Heard In Silence By Indonesia Leaders

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev told Indonesia's parliament Friday that Asia and Africa should be represented at the summit. But, he added, "maybe the time is not yet ripe."

The touring Soviet leader bitterly criticized Japan supported Indonesia's claims to Dutch West New Guinea, lambasted the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, denounced colonialism, and preached coexistence and world disarmament.

His 46-minute speech, read by an interpreter after Khrushchev had spoken the opening paragraphs, was received mostly in silence by an audience of 300, including foreign diplomats.

Sukarno Not Present

President Sukarno, Khrushchev's host and guide during his 12-day tour, was not present.

Khrushchev declared Sukarno's bid for representation at the summit "is the only one which is right." He said other summit members had turned down a Soviet proposal to include neutral nations like India, and "maybe the time is not yet ripe to arrange a more representative summit conference."

But the Big Four meeting in Paris in May will lead to wider talks where African-Asian nations will have their say, he said.

Khrushchev's main theme was peace and disarmament. He said economically backward countries would benefit if the arms race were halted and the money diverted to aid.

He recommended general and complete disarmament and "extensive control of it."

Japan's signing of a new joint U.S. security agreements threatens world peace, he declared, adding a proverb: "If you sow wind, surely you will yield a storm."

Questions Japan

By permitting foreign—meaning U.S.—military bases on its soil, he asked if Japan intended to carry out its plan of the 1920s for the conquest of Asia.

Khrushchev called the eight-nation SEATO alliance a dangerous kind of collective "colonialism and imperialism" against Indonesia, in Cambodia and Laos.

Applause broke out only once when Khrushchev said the Soviet Union supports Indonesia in its struggle to get possession of West Irian, or West New Guinea, from The Netherlands.

Van Rie Again Denies Slaying

BOSTON (AP) — Dutch radio operator Willem Van Rie made a final, unwavering denial Friday that he beat Lynn Kauffman and threw her off his ship to drown. Thus he ended nearly three full days on the witness stand at his first-degree murder trial.

Earlier, he had denied shoving the girl unconscious through her cabin porthole so he could toss her overboard unobserved last Sept. 18.

The handsome, 31-year-old Van Rie told again of a false admission he said he gave police under duress just before his arrest in the girl's death.

Asst. Dist. Atty. John F. McAuliffe then asked: "And didn't you say, 'Now I have stuck my neck completely into a hole'?"

"Yes, sir," Van Rie replied.

"And that's because you beat this girl unconscious and dumped her over the rail," McAuliffe shouted.

"No more questions," McAuliffe told Superior Court Judge Frank U. Murray, and Van Rie stepped down from the witness stand at 3:41 p.m. He began his testimony in midmorning, Wednesday.

The next defense witness was John A. Bassen of Mackay Radio & Telegraph Co., Inc. of New York. He testified his station WSL on Long Island, N.Y., sent out at 7 p.m. Sept. 18 the identical weather message Van Rie entered in his ship's radio log for that hour—which is the time the state says he sent Miss Kauffman to her death.

Woman Sentenced

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—A district court has sentenced Mrs. Shen Lin-Hsiang, 42, to 2½ years in jail for biting off part of her daughter's ear during an attempt to teach the girl "her place in the family."

Nation Is Slugged By Winter Storm

By United Press International

An Atlantic-bound winter storm pounded New England Friday with heavy snows, lashing winds and high tides. In its 1,500-mile wake, midwesterners struggled with snow drifts up to 10 feet high and southerners shivered in a crop-destroying cold wave.

Up to eight inches of snow slugged northern New Hampshire and Maine and weathermen warned that up to four more inches would fall before the nation's latest winter storm put to sea.

Gale warnings were hoisted all along the New England coast. The surf was running so high that a 10-year-old boy was washed to his death from a sea wall at Lynn, Mass.

Fresh snow also fell in Michigan, where winds piled Thursday's fall into 10-foot drifts, clogging many roads and forcing more than 100 schools to remain closed Friday.

In Indiana the deep snow stalled hundreds of motorists and stranded jurors in a manslaughter trial at their homes near Lafayette, forcing a trial recess.

However, even the highway-barricading snowdrifts failed to halt Indiana's annual siege of "Hoosier Madness." Sixty-four high school basketball tournaments were run off on schedule Thursday night in the state's annual tournament.

The three-day weather death toll climbed to 33. United Press International counted 6 dead in Arkansas, 4 each in Indiana and Louisiana, 3 each in Ohio, Illinois and Wisconsin, 2 each in Oklahoma and Montana and 1 each in Missouri, Kentucky, Colorado, Washington, Michigan and Massachusetts.

The mercury dipped near or below freezing in the Deep South. Temperatures moderated under sunshine in Georgia Friday, but readings down to 25 degrees were predicted in the northern Florida mucklands Saturday morning.

Truck farmers in the semitropical lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas reported that a freeze ruined valuable tomato, watermelon and corn crops.

Students Build Atom Smasher

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Nearly two years ago a handful of zealous pupils at Central High School resolved to build an atom-smasher.

The physics teacher, Fred Hofkin, had received a grant of $800 from the Heart Assn. of Southeastern Pennsylvania for research. So what better course than to set about making a cyclotron, capable of producing radioactive isotopes for research and treatment of heart and other diseases?

Central, being a strictly academic school, has no shop. So the boys decided to build their cyclotron in the basement furnace room.

The boys begged and borrowed materials from coast to coast. A California electronics firm gave $160 worth of vacuum pipe and fittings. The University of Pennsylvania lent a one-ton coil of copper wire, blown glass and other special parts.

Last fall Hofkin, an inspiration to the pupils, took a teaching job elsewhere. But he gave all his spare time to the dedicated group of boys at Central.

Thursday, Central High took the wraps off the cyclotron, which builds up an internal speed of up to 40,000 miles a second and has a magnetic force of 16,000 units known as gauss. In a preliminary test, the mechanism blasted its protons right on target.

Princess Margaret Rose Engaged To Photographer

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret put the shadow of a broken romance behind her Friday night and announced her engagement to Clarence House, Margaret's London home across the mall from Buckingham Palace, said no date for the wedding has been set.

The announcement said: "It is with the greatest of pleasure that Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother announces the betrothal of her beloved daughter, the Princess Margaret, to Mr. Antony Charles Robert Armstrong-Jones, son of Mr. R.O.L. Armstrong-Jones, Q.C. and the Countess of Rosse, to which union the Queen has gladly given her consent."

Q.C. designates a queen's counsel, an honored lawyer. Margaret told her sister, the Queen, of the engagement privately. She and Prince Philip were said by a Buckingham Palace spokesman to be "delighted because this is such a happy match."

Also informed in advance were Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Hugh Gaitskell, leader of the opposition Labor party.

Nearly Million Are On Hand; Police Use Gas In Disturbance

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — President Eisenhower heard the cheers of perhaps a million Argentines Friday but ran into Peronista demonstrations that brought police tear gas into play at one point. The President could get a whiff of the gas as he left the Argentine Congress after an address.

The demonstrations by followers of ex-dictator Juan D. Peron failed, however, to overshadow the enthusiastic welcome, the biggest and warmest yet on Eisenhower's South American trip.

U. E. Baughman, chief of the U.S. Secret Service, estimated the crowd at 750,000 to a million—several hundred thousand more than had greeted Eisenhower in Brazil's two biggest cities.

Bombs Explode

To start the day, five bombs exploded in Buenos Aires, injuring three people. Supporters of Peron usually are blamed for frequent bomb blasts linked with Argentina's constant political turmoil.

A few Peron demonstrators marred Eisenhower's parade through the city, but the worst came after the parade had ended, as he was leaving the Congress building.

Shortly before Eisenhower's car was due to pass an intersection near the Congress building one group of demonstrators raised a banner proclaiming: "Ike Peronista." Another group of people quickly shouted "Ike is a democrat... Ike is no dictator."

The shouts led to blows and police moved in brandishing clubs and firing tear gas. They brought the disturbance under control before Eisenhower's car reached the scene, but his car moved through the still drifting gas.

Police Arrest 12

About 150 persons were involved. Police arrested 12. When Eisenhower went into the Congress building a group of about 500 Peronistas shouted slogans and battled police. Some broke through police lines but were quickly rounded up.

Trucks rushed reinforcements to the area and police formed a solid wall, interlocking their arms, to keep the demonstrators back.

Despite the violence, the welcome given Eisenhower in this Argentine capital far surpassed what many Americans here had expected in the light of Argentina's neutralism in World War II and the relative reserve of the people as compared with the Brazilians.

After a decorous start, the crowd put their hearts into a rip-roaring greeting that was easily the biggest and warmest of Eisenhower's four-nation South American tour.

"Welcome Ike," they shouted, waving handkerchiefs and U.S. and Argentine flags. "Hurrah for democracy! Hurrah for Ike!"

Many Crash Survivors Are Still 'Critical'

SHANNON AIRPORT, Ireland (AP)—Many survivors of an Italian airliner crash that carried at least 29 people to a blazing death amid the shattered tombstones of a country graveyard remained in critical condition Friday. Investigators sifted the still-smoking wreckage in an effort to determine the cause of the tragedy.

Most of the dead on the flight originating in Naples and heading for New York were Americans and Italians. Al Italia Airline officials said approximately a dozen persons with U.S. addresses were aboard, and that five of these survived. They withheld details pending a completed check.

Twenty-seven of the 52 aboard the four-engine DC7C were known to have perished. Another two were missing and presumed burned to ashes in the inferno of blazing gasoline. The plane had just taken on 7,000 gallons for the transatlantic hop.

The crash climaxed the blackest day for peacetime aviation. It was the first time that three major planes had gone down within 24 hours. Two planes collided near Rio de Janeiro Thursday, killing 61 aboard. Then came the Shannon crash, which raised the toll in seven major commercial aviation crashes this year to at least 269.

One of those listed as missing here was Mrs. Giulia Roosevelt Pallavicini Creel, a distant cousin of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and wife of a young Marine pilot. His father is Judge James R. Creel of the New York City Court of Special Sessions.

Only a handful of the survivors escaped critical injury. Doctors said most had deep burns and fractures. Several hovered on the verge of death.

A local priest, the Rev. Thomas Comerford, said it was "like a scene from hell."

The plane, carrying 40 passengers and a crew of 12, had made an unscheduled refueling stop at Shannon soon after midnight. An hour later it roared off the main runway and seemed to be climbing strongly over a small hill.

Then came a roaring, grinding crash that woke the whole countryside.

A sheet of flame lit up the night sky as the plane sheared through the little cemetery about three miles from the airport tower. Twisting and turning the big plane ripped through the soggy grass, tearing itself to pieces and spilling passengers to the ground. Screaming and moaning rose from the field.

"On God, it was horrible," said John Mulready, one of the first rescuers to reach the scene.

"Bodies were scattered all over the field. The most appalling sight of all was the dying children—they were moaning. Most of the bodies were mutilated beyond belief."

Clubs Ordered To Get Rid Of Slot Machines

CAMBRIDGE (AP)—Slot machines disappeared Friday from six private clubs in the Cambridge area after the Dorchester County Ministerial Assn. complained to officials.

State's Atty. C. Burnam Mace ordered the clubs to get rid of the slots immediately or face court action.

One club said it had them on the premises for at least seven years, although they are illegal in the county. Other organizations have had them longer, it was reported.

The Rev. Daniel Kasten, vice president of the ministerial association, said ministers had been told that a 9-year-old Cambridge boy hit the "jackpot" on a slot at the Cambridge American Legion Hall.

This payoff prompted the latest action against the devices.

The Rev. Mr. Kasten said the association had a "feeling of very urgent concern" and felt that if the gambling condition existed it should be looked into.

Spokesmen for the American Legion Club here, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Cambridge Yacht Club, Cambridge County Club, Elks and Moose admitted they had been called to a closed meeting Thursday by Mace.

The organizations said "the machines are no longer operating." About 15 slots were being played in the six establishments.

One organization reported it netted about $18,000 a year from three machines and said it was no secret about their existence.

One lodge official said "when the State's attorney comes in we take them out. That way he never knows we have them in operation."

Representatives of the Legion and VFW complained that people are going to play the machines despite the law against their use. "We are non-profit," one club spokesman said. "We don't build up a bank account. This money goes back into the community in public service programs."

The ban apparently hasn't been extended outside of the Cambridge area.

An official of a Hurlock veterans club said he hadn't been contacted by any county or state officials. "Do you have slot machines?" he was asked.

"I guess so," he replied.

Girl In Love Carol's Crime Says Attorney

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"If there is any blame that attaches to Carol Treggoff, it is an age-old story of a young girl in love with a man. That is her only crime."

With these closing words, an attorney for the shapely, red-headed Friday rested her defense to charges of murder and conspiracy in the slaying of Barbara Jean Finch, 36, last July 18. Dr. R. Bernard Finch, 42, society surgeon and Miss Treggoff's lover, is also charged with killing his wife.

Attorney Rexford Eagan, completing his summation of Carol's defense, urged the jury "to take good care" of Carol's destiny.

He made a scathing attack on prosecution witnesses who testified against the 23-year-old ex-model. One he called a "puppy dog," another a "coyote or a jackal," and the third a malaria-carrying mosquito.

Eagan told the jury: "With this, ladies and gentlemen, we put in your hands the destiny of Carol Treggoff. May God grant you take good care of it."

The prosecution witnesses who came in for Eagan's bitter criticism were Don Williams, a friend of Carol's; Richard Keachie, a friend of Williams; and John Patrick Cody, a friend of Keachie's. Cody is a Minneapolis convict who testified Finch and Miss Treggoff hired him to kill Mrs. Finch. The defendants said they hired Cody only to get evidence against her for a divorce trial.

Eagan compared Williams to a "puppy dog" who doesn't know whom to favor. He said Williams tried to testify for the state and without injuring Miss Greoff.

He referred to Keachie as "a coyote or a jackal preying on other people" because, he said, Keachie helped Cody mulct the doctor and Carol of money and then left for Minneapolis.

Still to come before the trials are arguments from the attorney for Miss Treggoff's co-defendant and rebuttal from the prosecution.

Fledgling Drivers Taking Tests To Burn Low Beams

BALTIMORE (AP)—Motorists, if you see a car moving cautiously down the street in the daylight with lights on lower beam, be on your guard.

Motor Vehicles Commissioner John R. Jewell said Friday that effective Feb. 29 fledgling drivers taking driving tests will be required to have their headlights on dim position throughout the test. Jewell said this "will allow the public to recognize candidate drivers... creating greater safety on the streets and highways."

PSC Says It Lacks Authority In Refund Case

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Public Service Commission decided Friday it lacked authority to order the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. and the Baltimore Gas and Electric Co. to make more than $8,200,000 in refunds to their customers.

The PSC dismissed pleas of the People's Counsel for the refunds of about six million dollars by the telephone company and about $2,223,000 by the power firm.

Wilfred T. McQuaid, former People's Counsel, had charged last year the two utilities earned more than eight million dollars in excess of the rates of return authorized by the PSC.

The commission ruled Friday it does not have the authority to direct refunds of amounts of money collected under approved rates and charges.

Refunds may be ordered only in cases where utilities have filed a new rate which has been suspended before a final order issued and when temporary rates are involved, the commission said.

The alleged excess revenues in the two cases followed establishment of fixed rates of return by the PSC.

Judges James K. Cullen and Joseph L. Carter imposed the penalty on Lipscomb for the fatal attack on Mrs. Mae Hall, 37, Negro, on Dec. 9, 1958.

Lipscomb was arrested last April shortly after the last in a series of three strangulation murders at 2 p. m. at the Zeigler Funeral Home by Rev. Louis L. Emerick, pastor of Trinity Methodist church.

The figures were included in a report sent to Congress.

Negro Slayer Sentenced To Die
BALTIMORE (AP)—Nathaniel Lipscomb, 31-year-old Negro, was sentenced to death in the State Prison gas chamber Friday for the rape-slaying of a Baltimore woman.

Judges James K. Cullen and Joseph L. Carter imposed the penalty on Lipscomb for the fatal attack on Mrs. Mae Hall, 37, Negro, on Dec. 9, 1958.

Many Crash Survivors Are Still 'Critical'

SHANNON AIRPORT, Ireland (AP)—Many survivors of an Italian airliner crash that carried at least 29 people to a blazing death amid the shattered tombstones of a country graveyard remained in critical condition Friday. Investigators sifted the still-smoking wreckage in an effort to determine the cause of the tragedy.

Most of the dead on the flight originating in Naples and heading for New York were Americans and Italians. Alitalia Airline officials said approximately a dozen persons with U.S. addresses were aboard, and that five of these survived. They withheld details pending a completed check.

Twenty-seven of the 52 aboard the four-engine DC7C were known to have perished. Another two were missing and presumed burned to ashes in the inferno of blazing gasoline. The plane had just taken on 7,000 gallons for the transatlantic hop.

The crash climaxed the blackest day for peacetime aviation. It was the first time that three major planes had gone down within 24 hours. Two planes collided near Rio de Janeiro Thursday, killing 81 aboard. Then came the Shannon crash, which raised the toll in seven major commercial aviation crashes this year to at least 269.

One of those listed as missing here was Mrs. Giulia Roosevelt Pallavicini Creel, a distant cousin of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and wife of a young Marine pilot. His father is Judge James R. Creel of the New York City Court of Special Sessions.

Only a handful of the survivors escaped critical injury. Doctors said most had deep burns and fractures. Several hovered on the verge of death.

A local priest, the Rev. Thomas Comerford, said it was "like a scene from hell."

The plane, carrying 40 passengers and a crew of 12, had made an unscheduled refueling stop at Shannon soon after midnight. An hour later it roared off the main runway and seemed to be climbing strongly over a small hill.

Then came a roaring, grinding crash that woke the whole countryside. A sheet of flame lit up the night sky as the plane sheared through the little cemetery about three miles from the airport tower. Twisting and turning, the big plane ripped through the soggy grass, tearing itself to pieces and spilling passengers to the ground. Screaming and moaning rose from the field.

"Oh, God, it was horrible," said John Mulready, one of the first rescuers to reach the scene. "Bodies were scattered all over the field. The most appalling sight of all was the dying children—they were moaning. Most of the bodies were mutilated beyond belief."

Girl In Love Carol's Crime Says Attorney

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"If there is any blame that attaches to Carol Tregoff, it is an age-old story of a young girl in love with a man. That is her only crime."

With these closing words, an attorney for the shapely red-head Friday rested her defense to charges of murder and conspiracy in the slaying of Barbara Jean Finch, 36, last July 18. Dr. R. Bernard Finch, 42, society surgeon and Miss Tregoff's lover, is also charged with killing his wife.

Attorney Rexford Eagan, completing his summation of Carol's defense, urged the jury "to take good care" of Carol's destiny. He made a scathing attack on prosecution witnesses who testified against the 23-year-old ex-model. One he called a "puppy dog," another a "coyote or a jackal" and the third a malaria-carrying mosquito.

Eagan told the jury: "With this, ladies and gentlemen, we put in your hands the destiny of Carol Tregoff. May God grant you take good care of it."

The prosecution witnesses who came in for Eagan's bitter criticism were Don Williams, a friend of Carol's; Richard Keachie, a friend of Williams; and John Patrick Cody, a friend of Keachie's. Cody is a Minneapolis convict who testified Finch and Miss Tregoff hired him to kill Mrs. Finch. The defendants said they hired Cody only to get evidence against her for a divorce trial.

Eagan compared Williams to a "puppy dog" who doesn't know whom to favor. He said Williams tried to testify for the state and without injuring Miss Groff.

He referred to Keachie as "a coyote or a jackal preying on other people" because, he said, Keachie helped Cody mulct the doctor and Carol of money and then left for Minneapolis.

Still to come before the trials are arguments from the attorney for Miss Tregoff's co-defendant and rebuttal from the prosecution.

Vandals Must Write Apology

FREDERICK (AP)—Five youths who went on a Nazi swastika painting spree last month were ordered Friday to write 500-word themes of apology to the heads of religious groups they offended and to the mayor of Frederick.

Judge Patrick M. Schnauffer also directed them to mention in their essays points concerning the religious freedom enjoyed in this country.

The papers must be before him for approval within 10 days. The youths also must pay for the removal of the Hitlerite emblems painted on the city water tower tank, the wall of the St. Johns Catholic Church convent, and the Beth Scholom Synagogue.

The swabbing of the swastikas on the Frederick property occurred during the recent wave of such paintings here and abroad.

Judge Schnauffer told the five youths, who were not identified, to meet with Father Herbert R. Jordan of St. Johns, Rabbi Yehudah E. Perkins and Mayor Jacob R. Harnburg. They probably will lecture them on religious freedom.

The judge also instructed Police Chief Charles V. Main to keep a close check on the youngsters and pick them up if they become involved in any trouble.

One of the youths said: "We just did it as a big joke and to get Frederick on the map."

Slots Opponents Form Committee

INDIAN HEAD, Md. (AP)—A group opposing the operation of slot machines in Southern Maryland met Thursday night to form a Citizens Committee for a Better Charles County.

The meeting was proposed by there must be military cooperation among freedom-loving nations until the last threat of force has been suppressed. "For no single nation, no matter how mighty, can alone protect the freedom of all."

"Together, however, the nations which cherish independence can command a power so great that no potential aggressor could violate the peace without destruction," he said.

Obviously alluding to international communism, he said the way to overcome "the ugly external threat that faces us" is a maximum exchange of ideas, persons and techniques.

He outlined these as U.S. desires: for all American nations to progress economically; to cooperate "in every sound way we can" to adhere to a policy of nonintervention and mutual respect; but to applaud the triumph of free government everywhere in the world; and to bring ever closer "the realization of a world in which peace with freedom is guaranteed."

Eisenhower flew to this city in midmorning from Rio de Janeiro for a weekend visit that will include diplomatic talks with Frondizi at Bariloche, a lake resort in the Andes Mountains.

After his visit to this nation of 20 million, where an industrial economy is budding on a cattle-ranching base, Eisenhower will head Monday to Chile.

Fledgling Drivers Taking Tests To Burn Low Beams

BALTIMORE (AP)—Motorists, if you see a car moving cautiously down the street in the daylight with lights on lower beam, be on your guard.

Motor Vehicles Commissioner John R. Jewell said Friday that effective Feb. 29 fledgling drivers taking driving tests will be required to have their headlights on dim position throughout the test.

Jewell said this "will allow the public to recognize candidate drivers... creating greater safety on the streets and highways."

PSC Says It Lacks Authority In Refund Case

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Public Service Commission decided Friday it lacked authority to order the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. and the Baltimore Gas and Electric Co. to make more than $8,200,000 in refunds to their customers.

The PSC dismissed pleas of the People's Counsel for the refunds of about six million dollars by the telephone company and about $2,200,000 by the power firm.

Wilfred T. McQuaid, former People's Counsel, had charged last year the two utilities earned more than eight million dollars in excess of the rates of return authorized by the PSC.

The commission ruled Friday it does not have the authority to direct refunds of amounts of money collected under approved rates and charges.

Refunds may be ordered only in cases where utilities have filed a new rate which has been suspended before a final order issued and when temporary rates are involved, the commission said.

The alleged excess revenues in the two cases followed establishment of fixed rates of return by the PSC.

McQuaid contended the telephone company earned a return of 7.32 per cent from March 1, 1958 through Feb. 28, 1959, although the PSC had set its rate at 6.25 per cent of its investment.

He said the power company earned 6.45 per cent against an authorized return of 6.25 per cent. The commission set March 23 for a hearing on whether the telephone company's present rates are just and reasonable.

Work Benefits Measure Report Is Unfavorable

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Maryland House Judiciary Committee Friday voted an unfavorable report on a bill which would have broadened the definition of accidental injuries under the workmen's compensation law.

The action came after management and insurers testified at a public hearing that the bill would change the basic concept of the present law. Opponents contended it would extend benefits even to a common cold.

William S. Wilson of the Baltimore Assn. of Commerce told the committee that management should have to pay only for injuries resulting from accidents. It should not have to insure workers, he said, "against all natural hazards which we all are subjected to."

Gets Biggest

He wore a blue suit with a red carnation in his lapel.

Police were stationed every 10 to 20 feet along the route of Eisenhower's colorful motorcade to keep the people back. In some cases they stood shoulder to shoulder in areas where there were no people. For the first four miles groups only one deep were the rule. But the streets became jammed with humanity at the end of the route.

Eisenhower told the Congress there must be military cooperation among freedom-loving nations until the last threat of force has been suppressed. "For no single nation, no matter how mighty, can alone protect the freedom of all."

"Together, however, the nations which cherish independence can command a power so great that no potential aggressor could violate the peace without destruction," he said.

At the invitation of the Montgomery County Chapter of the Humane Society of the United States, The Animal Welfare Society of Allegany County has joined a newly organized federation of Maryland animal protective groups, Louis B. Young, president, announces.

The purpose of the new society, Mr. Young explains, will be the sponsorship of legislation to be placed before the Maryland General Assembly. Mrs. Dorothea D. Coke, Bethesda, is chairman of the legislative committee.

Proposed state laws include a spaying law to apply to all female animals adopted from a shelter; inspection of private boarding kennels; requirement for proper shelter from heat and cold for all animals; prohibition against staking out dogs; removal of the word "intent" from the present code covering acts of cruelty; humane slaughter law and prevention of the sale of animals as Easter novelties.

The local group is particularly interested in the Easter ordinance, Mr. Young said last evening. He pointed out that the Society has worked for it in the city and the county for several years. Elected officials have advised the society that a state-wide law is the only solution, "and their cooperation in effecting this will doubtless be forthcoming."

Allegany County Animal Welfare Society urges the public to report to it any deeds of kindness to animals by children. The society makes a monthly award honoring the most deserving juvenile.

Tips To Tame Roller Curlers

This is the era of "lock-and-roll" for hit hairdos. The flat roller-curler has been the answer to every hair-stylist's prayer, both in saloons and at home. It gives spring and body to hair in all textures, all lengths... if you know how to use it.

Do you? Perhaps you are one of the many home-stylists who have deserted the roller-curler,

TO MODEL SPRING HATS — A showing of custom millinery by Miss May Tomlinson and a program by the pupils of the Steekman Dance Studio will feature the entertainment at the Shrove Tuesday card party of the Confraternity of Christian Mothers of St. Peter and Paul parish. Due to the demand for tickets, it is being held at the Ali Ghan Country Club, instead of the parish hall. It will begin at 8 p. m. Refreshments will be served following the show. The card party will conclude the evening. Players are asked to bring their own cards. Besides special awards, prizes will be awarded at each table. Miss Tomlinson's creations are in four categories, including both large and small, as well as flower hats. Trying on one of the models is Mrs. Mary Louise Dressman, seated. Others, left to right, are Mrs. Fay Stillwagon, Miss Tomlinson, Mrs. Marianne Geatz, Mrs. Mary Irene Geatz and Mrs. Ann Mullaney. Mrs. Fay Stillwagon is general chairman.

4-H To Have Beta Sigma Phi Will CountyWide Confer Order Of Rose Contest

National 4-H Club Week will be observed this year for the first time with a county wide contest. The 4-H Week is March 6-12.

The majority of the 23 clubs in the county will have window displays depicting the 4-H projects. The four H's of Heart, Hand, Head and Health and improvement of family and community living also will be stressed.

Mrs. James Armstrong and Mrs. Arthur Evans will be the judges and will be accompanied by Miss Mary Wise, home demonstration agent; and Miss Nancy Marsteller, assistant, on their judging tour through the county. March 9.

Observance of the 4-H Week will begin with a county wide evening vespers service, which will be held in Centre Street Methodist Church, with 4-H Boys and Girls participating.

The Vandegrift Officers Club of Cumberland Chapter, OES will sponsor a card party Monday at the Masonic temple, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Vera Blinn To Have Study Meeting

The Vera Blinn Woman's Society of World Service will hold its annual study book, "Town and Country" Monday evening at the home of Mrs. John S. Cook, 860 McMullen Highway.

It will be preceded by a covered dish supper at 6:30. Each member is to bring a dish of food and place setting.

Mrs. J. L. Brotenmarkle will have charge of the study course.

County Group To Meet March 11

The Allegany-Garrett Firemen's Auxiliary will meet March 11 at Bedford Road fire hall, with Mrs. Margaret Arnold, Lonaconing, presiding. The meeting will begin at 7:30.

Plans are to be discussed for the June convention, which will be held in Deer Park. Dues are to be collected.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Cromwell Zembower, LaVale, will leave tomorrow for Memphis, Tenn., to attend the national firemen's instructors conference, which will be held March 1 through March 4.

Mrs. J. Walter Byer, 36 Greene Street, is improving in Sacred Heart Hospital, where she is suffering from pneumonia.

David (Scotty) Ogilvie, Bowling Green, is a surgical patient in Memorial Hospital.

Miss Orpha Bonita Pritchard, Mrs. Ethel Northcraft, Miss Geraldine Pritchard, Mrs. Kathleen Burke, Mrs. Jean Cioni, Miss Edith Scharf, Miss Mary Jo Logsdon, Miss Marion Dennison, Miss Anna Nicht and Miss Theresa Nicht are attending the meeting of the state board of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, being held in Frederick.

The Little Things

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Matthew	18	1-5
Monday	Psalms	141	1-3
Tuesday	1 Peter	5	5-7
Wednesday	1 Corinthians	3	9-11
Thursday	Psalms	119	54-56
Friday	Psalms	61	1-4
Saturday	Matthew	6	9-13

A child's faith is beautiful in its simplicity and in the little things it encompasses. Like, for instance, the nightly ritual that comes at the end of prayer. "God bless Mommy and Daddy and Cousin Peter and Kitty Kat and my blue teddy bear."

To a child, there is no reason why God should not bless also a crumpled and slightly soiled teddy bear, and a pet kitty. For God is goodness and love and kindness and tolerance . . . not perhaps in those words, but in the feeling this child has as she says her prayers.

Prayer, to the child who has been taught to pray, is a natural thing. It should be as much a part of everyday life as eating and sleeping and playing. To pray for what is good . . . to give thanks for what one has is an all-important step in that all-important right direction on the road of life.

The Little Things

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Matthew	18	1-5
Monday	Psalms	141	1-3
Tuesday	I Peter	5	5-7
Wednesday	I Corinthians	3	9-11
Thursday	Psalms	119	54-56
Friday	Psalms	61	1-4
Saturday	Matthew	6	9-13

A child's faith is beautiful in its simplicity and in the little things it encompasses. Like, for instance, the nightly ritual that comes at the end of prayer. "God bless Mommy and Daddy and Cousin Peter and Kitty Kat and my blue teddy bear."

To a child, there is no reason why God should not bless also a crumpled and slightly soiled teddy bear, and a pet kitty. For God is goodness and love and kindness and tolerance . . . not perhaps in those words, but in the feeling this child has as she says her prayers.

Prayer, to the child who has been taught to pray, is a natural thing. It should be as much a part of everyday life as eating and sleeping and playing. To pray for what is good . . . to give thanks for what one has is an all-important step in that all-important right direction on the road of life.

More Heart Volunteers Are Listed

LONA CONING — "Home Is Where the Heart Is" and tomorrow a neighbor volunteer for Lonaconing's Heart Fund drive will be calling for a contribution to the community Heart campaign.

"Have a BIG heart when you give to help fight heart disease—the No. 1 killer," says James Berry, chairman of the Lonaconing drive. Mrs. William Bell, co-chairman, has assisted in assigning helpers to their neighborhood streets, avenues and hills for Heart Sunday.

Valley Seniors Select Play

LONA CONING — "Finders Creepers" will be the Senior Class play to be presented March 28 and 29 at Valley High School auditorium under the direction of T. E. Conroy, senior class sponsor.

Try-outs for the play cast were held this week. Those chosen for the characters will be announced soon.

"Shamrock Ball" will be the senior dance on March 18 in Valley gymnasium. A queen will be crowned at the dance. Candidates for "Shamrock Queen" are Jeanne Cutter, Connie Llewellyn, Mary Louise Loar, Pat McPartland and Violet Howell.

Elk Garden Men On Navy Exercise

ELK GARDEN, W. Va. — John Copeland, seaman, USN, of Elk Garden, serving aboard the dock landing ship USS Spiegel Grove, and Donald R. Tephahode, machinist's mate, fireman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard F. Tephahode of Elk Garden, serving aboard the dock landing ship USS Fort Snelling, are participating in Operation "Brigadelex 1-60," a six-week helicopter amphibious exercise at Vieques, P. R.

Scheduled to end in early March, the 4,000 man operation is being conducted from the assault ship USS Boxer, serving as flagship and nucleus of the helicopter squadron.

Marines participating in the exercise are employing the "vertical envelopment" idea of warfare; landing troops by helicopters at the rear of the "enemy's" defenses.

Martinsburg P.O. Contract Is Let

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thornton Construction Co. of Richmond, Va. was awarded a $1,149,435 contract Friday to construct a post office and courthouse at Martinsburg, W. Va.

The General Services Administration said the Richmond firm, low among 11 bidders, is to complete the building by June, 1961.

VHS Tri-Hi-Y Host To County YMCA Council

LONA CONING — Senior Tri-Hi-Y was host to Allegany County Council of YMCA on Sunday, February 21, at the First Presbyterian Church. Plans were discussed for the pre-legislative program to be held March 5 at University of Maryland and the Youth Government sessions to be held in April at Annapolis.

Pat McPartland, president of Valley High School Senior Tri-Hi-Y, Roberta Love, vice president, Dorothy Robertson, treasurer, Sara Lynn Snelson and Carol Ann Dye will attend the both sessions planned in March and in April.

At the Annapolis meeting, the model legislative program students from Maryland counties will assemble to learn freehand the government procedure by participating in mock legislation. The Lonaconing delegation will have a Bill to sponsor.

A house-to-house canvass will also be made in Westernport and Luke on that day also. James Wills, Westernport, and Mrs. Lela Raines, Luke, are co-chairmen.

Church To Honor Organist For 55 Years Service

MT. SAVAGE — At 7:30 p.m. Sunday, the Mt. Savage Methodist Church will have a special service to honor Miss Lola Lewis for 55 years as church organist and sometime choir director.

Miss Lewis began to play the organ in 1904 under the urging of Rev. and Mrs. Milson Thomas, parents of the famed singer, John Charles Thomas. The first organ she used was an old tool powered one that had a bad habit of stopping in the middle of the worship service.

Through the pastorates of 19 ministers, Miss Lewis finally had to stop playing shortly after Christmas, on the urging of her physician.

In the service, songs appropriate to the occasion will be sung by the Senior and Junior choirs, and soloists in the church. The service will be followed by a reception in the social hall.

The program is under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Haus, the choir director, and Rev. William C. Harpold, pastor.

Legion To Mark Anniversary

LONA CONING—An anniversary dance will be held Saturday, March 5, at James P. Love Post No. 96, American Legion home, Jackson Street.

Department Commander James Matthews and his wife will be here for the 33rd anniversary celebration.

W.Va. Plans Homemakers In Garrett Crack Down On Burning

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Conservation Commission will crack down on trash burners during the three-month spring forest fire season beginning next Tuesday.

Asst. State Forester Asher Kelly said that with "an intensive law enforcement effort" the number of such fires could be expected to drop. Last spring, Kelly said, debris burners caused 30 per cent of the 1,530 forest fires — the highest since 1942.

Kelly warned that during the season it will be illegal to start any outdoor fires between 5 a.m. and 5 p.m. each day without a special or industrial permit.

Kelly said that much brush burning is done after 5 p.m. but that in the past such fires have been allowed to go uncontrolled until extinguished by fire fighters.

Kelly cautioned that such brush burning does not improve the soil but promotes the development of more broomsage, briars and other undesirable growth.

FSTC Forms Phys.-Ed. Club

FROSTBURG — The newest campus organization at Frostburg State Teachers College, the physical education club, has had its constitution approved by the Student Congress.

Officers of the club were elected at a recent meeting at which time Paul Flynn was elected president; Charlotte Couzens, vice-president; May June Wolfe, secretary; and William Bruchey, treasurer. Program chairman for women will be Virginia Thompson. Ronnie Mann will be chairman for men.

Plans were made for another co-ed sports day to be held Saturday March 5, in Compton Gym from 2 to 5 p.m. The day's activities will consist of basketball, volleyball, tumbling, the trampoline and a girls wrestling match.

Sr. Tri-Hi-Y Girls Propose Benefit

LONA CONING — A spaghetti supper will be sponsored by Valley High School Senior Tri-Hi-Y, Thursday, March 3, from 5 p.m. until 7 p.m. in Midland fire hall.

Tickets are being sold by members of the club under the supervision of their faculty sponsor, Miss Mary M. Sterbutzel. One hundred and twenty-eight will be served.

This is the first public supper sponsored by the girls group, which hopes to make it an annual fund-raising project. Proceeds will be used for the Tri-Hi-Y delegates trip to Youth Government at Annapolis.

Spring Revival Being Planned

WESTERNPORT — The spring revival services of the First Baptist Church will be held from Sunday, March 27 through Friday, April 1, according to Rev. Henry G. Laube, pastor.

The special services will be conducted by Rev. Dennis Hookaday, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Durham, N. C.

Valley Names Delegates For Library Meet

LONA CONING — Sandra Jenkins and Sandra Hendra are chosen as delegates of Valley High School's Library Club to attend the state meeting of school library assistants at Wheaton High School, Wheaton, Md. on April 30.

The Library Club elected Harriet Haran as new secretary of their club at their meeting on Thursday with Mrs. Nora C. Troxell, Valley's librarian and club sponsor.

An art display in the library showcase now is the work of junior high art class, instructed by Charles Gillis. "Creative Hands Make A Rewarding Life" is the theme arranged by Mrs. Troxell. A floor plan of a modern home, a model of a modern home and a variety of pictorial art including paper mache, artificial fruit and an original window box frame of birds and branches.

Two junior high classes, 8-4 and 7-3, completed a series of lessons on the World Book Encyclopedia, given by Roy Broadwater, regional manager for World Book.

The Fair superintendents of the Home Arts Department have called their meeting off because of travel difficulty. Mrs. Kenneth Ridder, superintendent, is calling a meeting on March 14 at 1:30 p.m. in Deep Creek Lodge, north of McHenry.

No. Garrett Drive Is Tomorrow

GRANTSVILLE — Area captains and workers under the direction of Mrs. Irva Mickey are all set for the Heart Sunday solicitation tomorrow in northern Garrett County.

The area chairmen include Joanne Durst, president of the Methodist Youth Fellowship, whose group is in charge of the Grantsville area; Mrs. Martha Friend, Friendsville area; Mrs. John Manges, Keyser Ridge area; Mrs. Montell Friend, assisted by Mrs. W. W. DeWitt, Hoyes area; Mrs. Audra Durst, assisted by Mrs. Ethel Hetrick, Jennings area.

Mrs. Mickey explained that the Accident and Cove area will be taken care of through offerings in the various churches. Leaders believe more people can be reached this way than through a house-to-house canvass.

Overall goal of the Heart Fund drive of the Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association in the two counties is $20,205.

W.Va. Turnpike Tolls Remain Unchanged

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia Turnpike Commission consultants recommended Thursday that present toll rates on the 88-mile highway from Charleston to Princeton be retained through 1960.

An independent survey firm which studied the question late last year, recommended at the commission's January meeting that tolls be hiked. Trustees of bondholders have been trying for some time to get the commission to raise the fees.

A final report from the survey firm — Wilbur Smith Associates of New Haven, Conn. — will be received by the commission at its next meeting probably in March. At that time, the commission is expected to take formal action on whether to increase toll rates this year.

Turnpike General Manager W. E. Stahl said that meanwhile, the commission called on various truckers using the turnpike to determine how a rate increase would affect business. He reported that a survey among the larger truck companies indicated that several would use the free highways rather than pay higher tolls.

RETIRED—Richard A. Hartman, of Beryl, W. Va., has retired from his job at the Luke mill of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, where he was employed for 18 years. He first started work in September 1941 in construction, and later was employed as a repairman in the boilerhouse.

The initiates were students who had completed the required fundamentals of design course and who had displayed an interest in the mechanics of art or art appreciation.

Norma Ravenscroft, a senior, is a graduate of Valley High School, coming to State from Lonaconing. She is enrolled in the elementary program. Charlotte Sigler, a resident of Frostburg, is a junior. A graduate of Beall High School, Charlotte is now practicing teaching at Beall Junior High School.

Bettie Umstead, also a junior, is a graduate of Sherwood High School. Two sophomores included as initiates are Carolyn Brooks and Mary Lee Callis. Carolyn is a graduate of Wheaton High School. Mary Lee is a graduate of Fort Hill High School.

Mr. John Schlump, instructor in the art department, was guest speaker. He spoke on "Art Education at All Levels." Mrs. Schlump and Dr. Laura B. Harney, an honorary member, were guests.

The initiation followed the banquet. Catherine Ann Joyce was presiding officer. She was assisted by Marilyn Hitchcock, Hilda Hines and Frank O'Rourke.

Miss Roseann Langhans is faculty advisor to the fraternity.

Chemistry Unit To Attend Conference

FROSTBURG — The General Chemistry Class of Frostburg State Teachers College announced plans to attend the Pittsburgh Conference on Analytical Chemistry and Applied Spectroscopy next Tuesday. Janice R. Griewahn, instructor, will accompany the group.

The Pittsburgh conference is a yearly convention of one week's duration. It gives an opportunity for those interested in chemistry to see the latest kinds of equipment and glassware used in this field, said Miss Griewahn. Hundreds of exhibits with extremely expensive instruments used for chemical analysis can be observed. The most recent books covering various branches of chemistry can be examined. Research papers on various topics, particularly those related to analytical chemistry and spectroscopy, are presented throughout the week.

Attendance at such a convention gives those interested a much broader scope of the field of chemistry.

Those making the trip are: Larry Barger, Gregory Caswell, Elsie Drum, William Ewing, Larry Fresh, Robert Hacker, James Hager, James Hampson, Bruce Lewis, Harold M. Gann, John Morris, Gary Mower, James Richardson, Victor Reuschlein, Rance Skidmore, Robert Thomas, Kenneth Weller and Richard Winfield.

Also, Mrs. Jack Munnell, Mrs. John Reckner, Mrs. Ralph Pritts Jr., Mrs. Wayne Pritts, Mrs. Robert Proudfoot, Mrs. Kenneth Ridder, Mrs. Irvin Rudy Jr., Mrs. Luther Seibert, Mrs. Willis Shaffer, Mrs. Dora Shreve, Mrs. Gene Skidmore, Mrs. James Stockton, Mrs. Thomas Staup, Mrs. Frederick Thayer Jr., Mrs. Harold Trickett, Mrs. Richard Welch, Mrs. Jerome Walsh and Mrs. Feld.

Those wishing to contribute who are not contacted, may send their contribution directly to Mrs. Feld.

Bridgewater Unit To Visit Area Church

WESTERNPORT — A Bridgewater College student deputation team will visit the Church of the Brethren today at 7:30 p.m. The team, composed of six students and one faculty member, will present a dialogue entitled "The Original Sin." It is based on the book "Man in the Middle," written by Mervyn Griffiths.

The deputation teams are sponsored by Student Christian Association of Bridgewater College. This association is affiliated with the National YMCA. Bridgewater College is owned and operated by the Church of the Brethren, and is located at Bridgewater, Va.

Those visiting Westernport will be Betty Ann Gardner, Broadway, Va.; Alice Hoover, Martinsburg, Pa.; Carole Shelly, Washington, D.C.; Barbara Winters, Mercersburg, Pa.; Ernest Rice, Thurmont, Md.; Richard Valentine, Cumberland; Jerry Williams, Frederick and Prof. Hugh Akerman, Orlando, Fla. Prof. Akerman is the faculty advisor.

The public is invited to attend this hour of worship. The program will include a mixed quartet and congregational participation.

Serves Aboard Cargo Ship

More Heart Volunteers Are Listed

LONA CONING — "Home Is Where the Heart Is" and tomorrow a neighbor volunteer for Lonaconing's Heart Fund drive will be calling for a contribution to the community Heart campaign.

"Have a BIG heart when you give to help fight heart disease—the No. 1 killer," says James Berry, chairman of the Lonaconing drive. Mrs. William Bell, co-chairman, has assisted in assigning helpers to their neighborhood streets, avenues and hills for Heart Sunday.

Valley Seniors Select Play

LONA CONING — "Finders Creepers" will be the Senior Class play to be presented March 28 and 29 at Valley High School auditorium under the direction of T. E. Conroy, senior class sponsor.

Try-outs for the play cast were held this week. Those chosen for the characters will be announced soon.

"Shamrock Ball" will be the senior dance on March 18 in Valley gymnasium. A queen will be crowned at the dance. Candidates for "Shamrock Queen" are Jeanne Cutter, Connie Llewellyn, Mary Louise Loar, Pat McPartland and Violet Howell.

Elk Garden Men On Navy Exercise

ELK GARDEN, W. Va. — John Copeland, seaman USN, of Elk Garden, serving aboard the dock landing ship USS Spiegel Grove, and Donald R. Tephahode, machinist's mate fireman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard F. Tephahode of Elk Garden, serving aboard the dock landing ship USS Fort Snelling, are participating in Operation "Brigadelex 1-60," a six-week helicopter amphibious exercise at Vieques, P. R.

Scheduled to end in early March, the 4,000 man operation is being conducted from the assault ship USS Boxer, serving as flagship and nucleus of the helicopter squadron.

Marines participating in the exercise are employing the "vertical envelopment" idea of warfare; landing troops by helicopters at the rear of the "enemy's" defenses.

Martinsburg P.O. Contract Is Let

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thornton Construction Co. of Richmond, Va. was awarded a $1,149,435 contract Friday to construct a post office and courthouse at Martinsburg, W. Va.

The General Services Administration said the Richmond firm, low among 11 bidders, is to complete the building by June, 1961.

VHS Tri-Hi-Y Host To County YMCA Council

LONA CONING — Senior Tri-Hi-Y was host to Allegany County Council of YMCA on Sunday, February 21, at the First Presbyterian Church. Plans were discussed for the pre-legislative program to be held March 5 at University of Maryland and the Youth Government sessions to be held in April at Annapolis.

Pat McPartland, president of Valley High School Senior Tri-Hi-Y, Roberta Love, vice president, Dorothy Robertson, treasurer, Sara Lynn Snelson and Carol Ann Dye will attend the both sessions planned in March and in April.

At the Annapolis meeting, the model legislative program students from Maryland counties will assemble to learn freehand the government procedure by participating in mock legislation. The Lonaconing delegation will have a Bill to sponsor.

Piedmont Organizes Heart Sunday

PIEDMONT — Heart Sunday house-to-house solicitation will be made here Sunday, February 28 by members of Piedmont Chapter 923, Women of the Moose. Dr. James H. Wolverton Jr., county chairman, states.

Mrs. M. A. High will serve in Piedmont as chairman and Mrs. Richard Hartman, Beryl postmistress, will be in charge in that town.

The members of Piedmont Lodge No. 1120, Loyal Order of the Moose, are placing containers in business places to receive contributions for the Heart Fund. A house-to-house canvass will also be made in Westernport and Luke on that day also. James Wills, Westernport, and Mrs. Lela Raines, Luke, are co-chairmen.

Church To Honor Organist For 55 Years Service

MT. SAVAGE — At 7:30 p.m. Sunday, the Mt. Savage Methodist Church will have a special service to honor Miss Lola Lewis for 55 years as church organist and sometime choir director.

Miss Lewis began to play the organ in 1904 under the urging of Rev. and Mrs. Milton Thomas, parents of the famed singer, John Charles Thomas. The first organ she used was an old foot powered one that had a bad habit of stopping in the middle of the worship service.

Through the pastorates of 19 ministers, Miss Lewis finally had to stop playing shortly after Christmas, on the urging of her physician.

In the service, songs appropriate to the occasion will be sung by the Senior and Junior choirs, and soloists in the church. The service will be followed by a reception in the social hall.

The program is under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Haus, the choir director, and Rev. William C. Harpold, pastor.

Legion To Mark Anniversary

LONA CONING—An anniversary dance will be held Saturday, March 5, at James P. Love Post No. 96, American Legion home, Jackson Street.

Department Commander James Matthews and his wife will be here for the 33rd anniversary celebration.

W.Va. Plans Crack Down On Burning

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Conservation Commission will crack down on trash burners during the three-month spring forest fire season beginning next Tuesday.

Asst. State Forester Asher Kelly said that with "an intensive law enforcement effort" the number of such fires could be expected to drop. Last spring, Kelly said, debris burners caused 30 per cent of the 1,530 forest fires—the highest since 1942.

Kelly warned that during the season it will be illegal to start any outdoor fires between 5 a.m. and 5 p.m. each day without a special or industrial permit.

Kelly said that much brush burning is done after 5 p.m. but that in the past such fires have been allowed to go uncontrolled until extinguished by fire fighters.

Kelly cautioned that such brush burning does not improve the soil but promotes the development of more broomsage, briars and other undesirable growth.

FSTC Forms Phys.-Ed. Club

FROSTBURG — The newest campus organization at Frostburg State Teachers College, the physical education club, has had its constitution approved by the Student Congress.

Officers of the club were elected at a recent meeting at which time Paul Flynn was elected president; Charlotte Couzens, vice-president; May June Wolfe, secretary; and William Bruchey, treasurer. Program chairman for women will be Virginia Thompson, Ronnie Mann will be chairman for men.

Plans were made for another co-ed sports day to be held Saturday March 5, in Compton Gym from 2 to 5 p.m. The day's activities will consist of basketball, volleyball, tumbling, the trampoline and a girls wrestling match.

Sr. Tri-Hi-Y Girls Propose Benefit

LONA CONING — A spaghetti supper will be sponsored by Valley High School Senior Tri-Hi-Y, Thursday, March 3 from 5 p.m. until 7 p.m. in Midland fire hall.

Tickets are being sold by members of the club under the supervision of their faculty sponsor, Miss Mary M. Sterbutzel. One hundred and twenty-eight will be served.

This is the first public supper sponsored by the girls group, which hopes to make it an annual fund-raising project. Proceeds will be used for the Tri-Hi-Y delegates trip to Youth and Government at Annapolis.

Spring Revival Being Planned

WESTERNPORT — The spring revival services of the First Baptist Church will be held from Sunday, March 27 through Friday, April 1, according to Rev. Henry G. Laube, pastor.

The special services will be conducted by Rev. Dennis Hookaday, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Durham, N. C.

U.S. May Buy Storer College

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government would be authorized to buy the Storer College site for an addition to the Harpers Ferry National Monument in West Virginia under a bill approved today by a Senate interior subcommittee. It would authorize $500,000 for the acquisition.

Masons Honor John W. Marshall

LONA CONING—John W. Marshall, of Washington, D.C., was honored at Georges Creek Valley Lodge No. 186, A. F. and A. M., at the Masonic Temple, Main Street.

He is a 50-year member of the Lonaconing lodge and was present for the program on his fiftieth anniversary of membership.

Homemakers In Garrett Schedule March Meetings

OAKLAND — The Mountain View Homemakers Club will meet at the Penn Alps Craft Shop and Restaurant Monday at 8 p.m. Mrs. Harvey Knox will give the demonstration on "Filing in Your Business Area." Mrs. John Menges the culture chairman will present the material on "Table Manners."

Valley Names Delegates For Library Meet

LONA CONING — Sandra Jenkins and Sandra Hendra are chosen as delegates of Valley High School's Library Club to attend the state meeting of school library assistants at Wheaton High School, Wheaton, Md. on April 30.

The Library Club elected Harriet Haran as new secretary of their club at their meeting on Thursday with Mrs. Nora C. Troxell, Valley's librarian and club sponsor.

An art display in the library showcase now is the work of junior high art class, instructed by Charles Gillis. "Creative Hands Make A Rewarding Life" is the theme arranged by Mrs. Troxell. A floor plan of a modern home, a model of a modern home and a variety of pictorial art including paper mache, artificial fruit and an original window box frame of birds and branches.

Two junior high classes, 8-4 and 7-3, completed a series of lessons on the World Book Encyclopedia, given by Roy Broadwater, regional manager for World Book.

No. Garrett Heart Drive Is Tomorrow

GRANTSVILLE — Area captains and workers under the direction of Mrs. Irva Mickey are all set for the Heart Sunday solicitation tomorrow in northern Garrett County.

The area chairmen include Joanne Durst, president of the Methodist Youth Fellowship, whose group is in charge of the Grantsville area; Mrs. Martha Friend, Friendsville area; Mrs. John Manges, Keyser Ridge area; Mrs. Montell Friend, assisted by Mrs. W. W. DeWitt, Hoyes area; Mrs. Audra Durst, assisted by Mrs. Ethel Hetrick, Jennings area.

Mrs. Mickey explained that the Accident and Cove area will be taken care of through offerings in the various churches. Leaders believe more people can be reached this way than through a house-to-house canvass.

Overall goal of the Heart Fund drive of the Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association in the two counties is $20,205.

Keyser Man Serves At Spanish Base

KEYSER, W. Va. — Serving at the U. S. Naval Station, Rota, Spain, is Charles H. Browning, aviation boatswain's mate third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Browning of 33 Wilow Avenue, Keyser.

The Rota Naval Station's mission is supporting the ships and aircraft of the U. S. Atlantic and Mediterranean Fleets.

Collector Sells 800 Tag Sets At Court House

Maryland automobile license tag sales reached the 800 mark yesterday at the office of Tax Collector William B. Orndorff in the Allegany County Court House.

Sales to 3 o'clock Thursday were 304 sets for the day and coupled with Tuesday's and Wednesday's sales the total for the first three days was 546. More than 250 were sold yesterday.

Mr. Orndorff cautioned that applications for auto license tags must have the following questions answered:

Is your motor vehicle registration now revoked, suspended or refused in this or any other state?

Is this vehicle covered by personal injury and property damage insurance?

The tax collector pointed out that if the answer is "no" to the second question the applicant must pay an additional $8 for his set of tags.

Donable Food Distribution Dates Listed

The schedule for the distribution of surplus food for March to qualified persons in Allegany County was announced yesterday by Grant A. Wiebel, supervisor of the program for the county.

Mr. Wiebel also said Thursday, March 10, is the deadline for new registrations for next month and those persons who must be re-certified in order to be eligible for foodstuffs in March.

The dates and distribution points are:

Frostburg—March 18 from 9:30 a.m. to noon at the Armory, Cumberland—March 21 and 22 from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the old Armory on South Centre Street, Cresaptown—March 23 from 9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. at the Fire Hall, Oldtown—March 23 from noon to 1:30 p.m. at Nixon's Store, Mt. Savage—March 24 from 9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. at the VFW Home, McCoole—March 24 from 12:30 p.m. to 2 p.m. at the Fire Hall, Midland—March 28 from 9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. at the Fire Hall, Lonaconing—March 28 from noon to 1:30 p.m. at the VFW Home, Barton—March 29 from 9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. at the Fire Hall, Westport—March 29 from noon to 1:30 p.m. at the American Legion Home.

B&O Opens Tracks Following Wreck

All tracks at the site of the eight car derailment of a B&O Railroad freight train near Swanton Thursday afternoon have been cleared and traffic is back to normal, according to B&O officials here.

The eight cars jumped the tracks while descending the 17-Mile Grade between Altamont and Piedmont. None of the cars tipped over and the non-perishable merchandise in the cars was not damaged.

The accident occurred about two miles east of Swanton on the grade as the four diesel units hauled a train of 90 loaded cars and seven empties. The east and westbound main lines were blocked by the derailment, but a second westbound track remained open, B&O spokesmen stated.

Oldtown Man Missing In Plane Crash

An Oldtown couple has received a telegram from the Navy Department stating that their son, John B. (Jack) Erickson is one of those missing aboard the Navy plane which was in a collision with a Brazilian airliner over Rio de Janeiro's bay Thursday.

Aviation Electronics Technician Erickson is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Broder P. Erickson, Oldtown, and is one of six members of the family of seven serving in the U. S. Navy.

Erickson, about 35, is reported to have been a member of the U. S. anti-submarine team which had been assisting the Argentine government in tracking down the mystery submarine in Golfo Nuevo.

The missing sailor is the husband of Mrs. Doris (Buchanan) Erickson, 8021 Aleida Drive, Norfolk, Va. The couple has five children, Benny, age 10, Edward, 9, Frederick, 8, Scotty 3, and Donna Marie, one month.

Erickson graduated from Oldtown High School in 1943. His brother, Broder Maynard Erickson, is an ensign in the Navy serving on Guam. His sisters, Mrs. Amelia Woods, Baltimore, Mrs. Margaret Cooks, Millington, Tenn., and Mrs. Gladys Rhinehart, Toms River, N. Y., have also served in the Navy. Another brother, Ronald Erickson, is stationed in San Diego, Calif.

House Approves

"It's up to the public anyway," replied Del. Lee (D-Montgomery). "If they don't like it, they can turn it down in November."

The committee and House both approved the raise on voice vote without debate. There will be a recorded vote when the bill comes up for passage.

The House completed action on another November referendum that will increase the number of judges on the Court of Appeals from five to seven. The two new judges will be appointed from Southern Maryland.

Loss Round
Integration forces lost a round in the House Judiciary Committee. It adopted an unfavorable report on a bill that would have prohibited restaurants and hotels from refusing to serve or accommodate Negroes.

A couple of legislators proposed to exempt their counties from its provisions. Since this would have made the bill unconstitutional if passed at this session, the committee decided to give it an unfavorable report.

Much of the Senate debate preceding defeat of the bill to re-appportion seats in the Legislature was similar to the talk which accompanied earlier House action on an identical bill. But Sen. Robert P. Dean (D-Queen Annes) emphasized a previously ignored point—that the bill would greatly weaken the hand which small counties play in nominations to statewide office, which are based on unit votes similar to the electoral votes in presidential elections.

Adventists Hold Training Meet

Otis L. Parish, pastor of the Seventh-day Adventist churches in Cumberland and Frostburg, are attending the Pathfinder Leaders' Training Course February 26-28 in the Seventh-day Adventist Church in Clarksburg, W. Va.

The course includes about 16 hours of instructions for youth leaders of the West Virginia Conference and is especially given for leadership in working with youth from 10 to 15 years of age. Among the youth leaders are E. M. Peterson, Columbia Union Youth Leader whose responsibility for youth leadership covers eight conferences; J. H. Lantry, West Virginia Union Leader; and A. J. Patzer, president of the West Virginia Conference.

Rev. Parish was accompanied by his wife and daughter. Mr. and Mrs. George Bittner and family from the Frostburg church are also attending the course.

County Board Defers Action On Library Plan

After hearing a number of representatives of the County Library Committee and the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce who urged the adoption of a county library system, John J. Rowan, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, made a statement yesterday concerning the board's stand on the plan.

"You people here today represent only a small percentage of the taxpayers of the county. There are 44,000 taxpayers in the county and we must take into consideration the effect the library plan will have on their tax rate."

"We are very much in favor of a library plan, if we can see our way clear after receiving the budget estimates within the next month. Speaking of taxes, I see some people here in support of the library plan who protested last year when the rate was increased 17 cents."

"Here are some of the things which face the county commissioners when we set the tax rate in April. A request for a school teacher salary raise, an increase in the total to be levied for school teacher pensions, an increase for county employees who are among the lowest paid workers in the area, some of whom receive $1,600 to $1,900 annually, improvements to county buildings, setting up the planning and zoning commission program, the problem of Miners Hospital in Frostburg."

"We must await the receipt of the various budgets before we can promise anything in the way of a library program," Rowan concluded.

Commissioner William A. Wilson said: "We must wait before coming to any decision." Wilson said that "There have been many economies realized in operating the county government during the past year, but we remember the protests last year when we raised the tax rate 17 cents."

Commissioner John T. Mason inquired about the workings of the proposed budget for a library program. He was informed by Mrs. William Cook, secretary of the library committee, that the budget as submitted would be the same for the next six to 10 years.

Former Judge George Henderson told the commissioners of the proposed plan which would involve establishment of a bookmobile plan for the outlying districts which have no library facilities.

He commented that Washington County has had a county program for many years and a bookmobile system for several decades. The former jurist said there would be volunteer services in various areas and there is a definite need for the program.

Chauncey M. Sanner, speaking for the Chamber of Commerce, said his organization represents many business, professional and industrial men and women and they are large taxpayers.

Earl Chaney, president of the Chamber, said the board of directors at a recent meeting explored the program and feel it would be a good thing for the community.

Others speaking in behalf of the plan said it would be of service to persons residing in rural areas, including shut-ins, elderly persons and children who have no access to libraries.

It was stated there are no established libraries in elementary schools with the possible exception of Parkside School in LaVale.

The program, if adopted, would give the county a $20,000 federal grant, approximately 8,000 books (valued at $24,000) from the State Division of Library Extension in Baltimore and the proponents said the county is well able to finance the program.

The State Division of Library Extension is discontinuing the loan program which it has operated for some years. The effective date is June 30 and the books will be distributed at that time to counties which have an established library program.

A chart was presented to the board showing that the library plans in other counties cost are not as high as expected. Five counties levy two cents on the tax rate, eight levy two to three cents and four from 4.31 cents to 7.59 cents with the latter figure being for Baltimore City.

These libraries have been established in most cases for more than 10 years, the report showed. Washington County levies 2.23 cents on the tax rate while Garrett's levy is 2.67 cents.

Equity Suits Filed

Two equity suits were filed in Allegany County Circuit Court Thursday. The bills of complaint were titled Bertha M. Rice vs. William F. Rice and Melvin H. Long vs. Rosella S. Long.

Chamber Of Commerce Makes Plans For Carnival

The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce forged ahead yesterday with plans for a community-wide "Cumberland Sports Carnival" to be staged the same week as the Lions Club Sports Car Races May 9-15.

The Chamber, in sponsoring the event, hopes to make this an annual affair and larger than those in nearby communities such as the "Forest Festival" at Elkins, the "Maple Sugar Festival" at Meyersdale and the "Apple Blossom Festival" at Winchester, according to Earl D. Chaney, president.

Francis A. Kenney, chairman of the Steering Committee, said the first meeting of committees appointed will be held as follows Saturday: 10:30 a.m., queens committee; 11 a.m., parade committee; 11:30 a.m., industrial display committee; 12:30 p.m., armed forces display committee; 1 p.m., decorations committee; 1:30 p.m., entertainment committee; and 2 p.m., entertainment and publicity committee.

Steering Committee members will explain what has been suggested to date and committee activity will begin at that point.

Members of committees are: STEERING: Kenney, chairman; William R. Carscaden, Chaney, W. D. Pealer, W. H. Adam, C. M. Sanner, Thomas F. Conlon Jr., H. D. Barber, Robert Little Ebert, Lewis J. Ort and A. Trago Brust.

Gas Company Homemaker Contest Opens

The annual search for the state's most outstanding homemaker — Mrs. Maryland — is being conducted in this area by Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company.

Local homemakers will be interviewed and a baked product sampled. A detailed screening process will then determine the candidate to represent the western portion of the state, District Manager C. C. Robbins said.

Applications are available at C&A offices, the official said. Application deadline is March 11. Selection will take place in the following two weeks, he added. Contestants must be married, have children and perform the major part of the homemaking in their home.

Mrs. Maryland will be chosen in Baltimore, March 28-30, at a home show in the Fifth Regiment Armory.

The state titlist will win a cash wardrobe allowance, a gas range, numerous cooking utensils and equipment and an expense-paid two week June vacation for her and her husband in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where she will compete for the national Mrs. America title.

The present Mrs. Maryland is Mrs. Colleen Nelson of Pinto.

Mr. Robbins pointed out that the homemaking contest places a great deal of emphasis on cooking, but other homemaking qualities also are weighed in determining the state and national winners.

Miners Hospital Bills Passed In Legislature

Two legislative items pertaining to Miners Hospital were passed in the House of Delegates Thursday, according to Del. Fred B. Driscoll, chairman of the Allegany County delegation.

Budget Amendment 18 provides that the Frostburg hospital will receive not less than $83,682 for the 1960-61 fiscal year in state aid.

This is as provided in Chapter 475 of the Acts of 1959 General Assembly. The sum was included in an amendment to a bill that calls for the end of direct state aid to Miners Hospital July 1, 1961.

House Bill 141 was passed by the House and sent to the Senate. This permits employees of the hospital to remain in the state retirement system.

It covers those who will be working at the hospital and under the system when the hospital is transferred to private operation.

Contributions to the pension fund will be made by the future employer and the employees. Del. Driscoll said there will be an amendment in the Senate that no state money will be used for the retirement plan.

Collector Sells 800 Tag Sets At Court House

Maryland automobile license tag sales reached the 800 mark yesterday at the office of Tax Collector William B. Orndorff in the Allegany County Court House.

Sales to 3 o'clock Thursday were 304 sets for the day and coupled with Tuesday's and Wednesday's sales the total for the first three days was 546. More than 250 were sold yesterday.

Mr. Orndorff cautioned that applications for auto license tags must have the following questions answered:

Is your motor vehicle registration now revoked, suspended or refused in this or any other state?

Is this vehicle covered by personal injury and property damage insurance?

The tax collector pointed out that if the answer is "no" to the second question the applicant must pay an additional $8 for his set of tags.

County Board Defers Action On Library Plan

After hearing a number of representatives of the County Library Committee and the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce who urged the adoption of a county library system, John J. Rowan, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, made a statement yesterday concerning the board's stand on the plan.

Commissioner William A. Wilson said: "We must wait before coming to any decision."

Wilson said that "There have been many economies realized in operating the county government during the past year, but we remember the protests last year when we raised the tax rate 17 cents."

Commissioner John T. Mason inquired about the workings of the proposed budget for a library program. He was informed by Mrs. William Cook, secretary of the library committee, that the budget as submitted would be the same for the next six to 10 years.

Former Judge George Henderson told the commissioners of the proposed plan which would involve establishment of a bookmobile plan for the outlying districts which have no library facilities.

He commented that Washington County has had a county program for many years and a bookmobile system for several decades. The former jurist said there would be volunteer services in various areas and there is a definite need for the program.

Chauncey M. Sanner, speaking for the Chamber of Commerce, said his organization represents many business, professional and industrial men and women and they are large taxpayers.

Earl Chaney, president of the Chamber, said the board of directors at a recent meeting explored the program and feel it would be a good thing for the community.

Others speaking in behalf of the plan said it would be of service to persons residing in rural areas, including shut-ins, elderly persons and children who have no access to libraries.

It was stated there are no established libraries in elementary schools with the possible exception of Parkside School in LaVale.

The program, if adopted, would give the county a $20,000 federal grant, approximately 8,000 books (valued at $24,000) from the State Division of Library Extension in Baltimore and the proponents said the county is well able to finance the program.

The State Division of Library Extension is discontinuing the loan program which it has operated for some years. The effective date is June 30 and the books will be distributed at that time to counties which have an established library program.

A chart was presented the board showing that the library plans in other counties cost are not as high as expected. Five counties levy two cents on the tax rate, eight levy two to three cents and four from 4.31 cents to 7.59 cents with the latter figure being for Baltimore City.

These libraries have been established in most cases for more than 10 years, the report showed. Washington County levies 2.23 cents on the tax rate while Garrett's levy is 2.67 cents.

Chamber Of Commerce Makes Plans For Carnival

The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce forged ahead yesterday with plans for a community-wide "Cumberland Sports Carnival" to be staged the same week as the Lions Club Sports Car Races May 9-15.

The Chamber, in sponsoring the event, hopes to make this an annual affair and larger than those in nearby communities such as the "Forest Festival" at Elkins, the "Maple Sugar Festival" at Meyersdale and the "Apple Blossom Festival" at Winchester, according to Earl D. Chaney, president.

Francis A. Kenney, chairman of the Steering Committee, said the first meeting of committees appointed will be held as follows: Saturday, 10:30 a. m., queens committee; 11 a. m., parade committee; 11:30 a. m., industrial display committee; 12:30 p. m., armed forces display committee; 1 p. m., decorations committee; 1:30 p. m., entertainment committee; and 2 p. m., entertainment and publicity committee.

Steering Committee members will explain what has been suggested to date and committee activity will begin at that point.

Members of committees are: STEERING: Kenney, chairman; William R. Carscaden, Chaney, W. D. Pealer, W. H. Adam, C. M. Sanner, Thomas F. Conlon, Jr., H. D. Barber, Robert Little Ebert, Lewis J. Ort and A. Trago Brust.

QUEENS: Ort, chairman;

Charles Cusick, R. B. O'Rourke, E. M. Lewis, Kenneth R. Farrell, J. D. Spofford and Tom V. Litz-enburg.

DECORATIONS: C. William Seasholtz and Ebert, co-chairmen; C. William Teubner, Joseph E. Dennison, William F. Cowherd and Robert G. Garner.

PROMOTION AND PUBLICITY: Brust, chairman; R. E. Twaits, Reynold Wallach, John E. Byrd, Wesley Blackburn, C. A. Lancaster, Wallace Hankins, A. W. German and David E. Kirk.

INDUSTRIAL DISPLAYS: Barber, chairman; W. P. Lawrence, William D. Claus, Harris LeFev, Eric Gibbs, Lawrence W. Brown, J. G. Jackson.

PARADE: Sanner, chairman; William G. Barger, G. A. Caswell, Miles G. Thompson Jr., David T. Davis, A. H. Amick, John E. Geare, Herman Mellotti, Charles S. Catherman Jr., Dr. R. K. Poling, H. Lee Silcox and Philmore F. Fleming.

ARMED FORCES DISPLAY: Conlon Jr., chairman; Col. Randolph Millholland, George Henderson and Lt. Cmdr. Richard Underwood.

ENTERTAINMENT: Earl Nonnenmann, chairman; John Vandegrift, John J. Long, James Webster, Fred Steiding and Dr. Frank E. Gamble.

The annual search for the state's most outstanding homemaker — Mrs. Maryland — is being conducted in this area by Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company.

Local homemakers will be interviewed and a baked product sampled. A detailed screening process will then determine the candidate to represent the western portion of the state, District Manager C. C. Robbins said.

Applications are available at C&A offices, the official said. Application deadline is March 11. Selection will take place in the following two weeks, he added.

Contestants must be married, have children and perform the major part of the homemaking in their home.

Mrs. Maryland will be chosen in Baltimore, March 28-30, at a home show in the Fifth Regiment Armory.

The state titlist will win a cash wardrobe allowance, a gas range, numerous cooking utensils and equipment and an expense-paid two week June vacation for her and her husband in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where she will compete for the national Mrs. America title.

The present Mrs. Maryland is Mrs. Colleen Nelson of Pinto.

Mr. Robbins pointed out that the homemaking contest places a great deal of emphasis on cooking, but other homemaking qualities also are weighed in determining the state and national winners.

Miners Hospital Bills Passed In Legislature

Two legislative items pertaining to Miners Hospital were passed in the House of Delegates Thursday, according to Del. Fred B. Driscoll, chairman of the Allegany County delegation.

Budget Amendment 18 provides that the Frostburg hospital will receive not less than $83,682 for the 1960-61 fiscal year in state aid.

This is as provided in Chapter 475 of the Acts of 1959 General Assembly. The sum was included in an amendment to a bill that calls for the end of direct state aid to Miners Hospital July 1, 1961.

House Bill 141 was passed by the House and sent to the Senate. This permits employees of the hospital to remain in the state retirement system.

It covers those who will be working at the hospital and under the system when the hospital is transferred to private operation.

Contributions to the pension fund will be made by the future employer and the employees. Del. Driscoll said there will be an amendment in the Senate that no state money will be used for the retirement plan.

Former Local Man Is Given School Honor

Dr. Robert J. Shockley, formerly of this city and principal of Loch Raven Elementary School in Baltimore County, has been named to receive a commendation attesting him to be "one of the nation's outstanding school principals."

Dr. Shockley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Harvey Shockley, 210 Schley Street, and is a graduate of Fort Hill High School, class of 1949, and Frostburg State Teachers College.

He and four others will receive a Leadership Scroll for "Dedication to his profession, administrative ability and inspired leadership to his faculty, students and community."

Selection was made by a panel of judges, consisting of outstanding educators, on the basis of briefs submitted by classroom teachers of the nominees.

Conducted by Arthur C. Croft Publications, the annual nationwide contest is dedicated "to honor the individuals who are often the forgotten men and women of American education."

Dr. Shockley, who received his master of arts, and doctor of education degrees from the Teachers College of Columbia University, is a member of various professional, service and community organizations.

Listed in Who's Who in American Education, he is past-president of the Department of Elementary Principals for Baltimore County and is currently being considered for the post of vice-president of the national group.

Capital Punishment Gets New Scrutiny

A man serving a life sentence for kidnaping faces a mandatory death sentence for murder in a trial slated to open Monday in Washington, D. C. He is Russell Wayne Carpenter, accused of slaying three persons in a Washington restaurant in 1957. Mental tests have been ordered to see whether Carpenter is competent to stand trial, also to determine his mental condition at the time of the murders.

The District of Columbia is one of the last jurisdictions in the United States with a mandatory death sentence that leaves no discretion to the judge. The mandatory sentence is prescribed for first-degree murder.

The District's Judicial Conference voted last November in support of legislation that would let trial judges decide whether certain defendants must die for first-degree murder. Several states have gone much farther. Alaska, Delaware, Hawaii, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, Rhode Island, and Wisconsin have eliminated entirely or sharply restricted the use of capital punishment, as have Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown of California, where kidnaper Caryl Chessman received a 60-day stay of execution February 19, has stated he will sign any bill adopted by the legislature to abolish the death penalty.

The law-making body reconvenes Monday; Brown has asked it to express the will of the people on capital punishment.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

This Mechanical World

"Can you tell me when Flight X from Los Angeles will arrive? I understand it is delayed."

"I'll find out for you," says a sweet voice. After a pause, she comes back: "It was delayed three or four hours for mechanical servicing. We can only say that it was supposed to leave at 1 P. M. (The last time I phoned, the girl said that it would leave at noon.) We have no notice yet that it has left. Call in about an hour."

I say: "A passenger on that plane is due for dinner at 7 P. M. and for theater after that."

"Well," says the sweet voice, "in this mechanical age, anything can happen. It does not matter what business you're in, the machines do go wrong sometimes."

This is a very cheerful philosophy but not very encouraging. The airlines ought to have sufficient equipment so that they take the risk of a mechanical default. All they have to sell is time—speed. If the airplane does not give the passenger the advantage of reaching his destination on time, speedily, safely, surely, it does not perform its objective. The same is true of railroads. The same is true of busses. When the airplanes do not arrive on time or close to time, it can only be that their system is defective and requires correction, unless the failure is due to weather or another unfavorable act of God. A four or five hour delay in departure is a betrayal of the essential function.

The excuse of the airplane companies has always been that safety is more important than any other factor. It is not a valid excuse. In their calculations as to the cost of operations, they ought to include the item of stand-by equipment to replace any which may suddenly get out of order. In a word, if at 10 A. M., it is discovered that a plane cannot leave, because of a mechanical defect, a substitute plane ought to be made available to bring the passengers in.

I recognize the enormous cost of such a service, but when a common carrier sells a ticket to bring a person from one point to another, specifying the time of departure and arrival, that is a contract and should be kept. To fail to keep it is an unfair trade practice. Both the railroads and the airplane companies have become careless about time. It used to be that the Twentieth Century Limited of the New York Central boasted that it arrived on the dot and paid a penalty when it failed. Men took time seriously in those days as they did manners, politeness, outward decency.

One girl, in discussing an eight and a half hour delay of a jet plane, said: "I'm glad that they turned back." This may be good public relations. She was glad that they turned back; otherwise the passengers might have been killed. However, the alternative ought not to be death or delay; there could have been a stand-by plane available to take care of trouble.

The transportation system of the United States, like so much else of the post-war period, requires rationalization. The railroads have gone to pot on the whole, particularly the suburban lines of big cities which cannot compete with busses and private cars; crack trains have lost their elegance in competition with airplanes. The airplanes have become as stuck-up as a successful television pitchman. Someday, a clever airplane manager will devise a method of guaranteed performance even if he takes his time about it. He will say that his planes arrive approximately at such and such a time, advising those anxious about arrivals to call a certain number for more precise information.

I pose no simple problem because the cost of any-thing associated with airplanes is almost prohibitive. On the other hand, a service either stands up or it does not. The function of management is to make it as nearly perfect in proficiency as money and brains can make it. It is not my function to make what is called "constructive" criticism; I am not an engineer or a financier. Constructive criticism is their function; mine, as one of the public, is to complain when planes do not leave on time and do not arrive on time, or when baggage is lost.

Making Sam A Travelin' Man

Why Interest Rates Need Some Leeway

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The House Ways and Means Committee has made a start toward remedying the ill effects that have come from political tinkering with the nation's interest rates.

Spurred by the sensible leadership of Representative Wilbur Mills of Arkansas, Democrat, and the sympathetic attitude of Speaker Sam Rayburn, the House committee has approved a bill that gives the Treasury a certain amount of flexibility in fixing the interest rates on long-term government bonds. This doesn't go all the way toward removing the impediments to the natural operation of the law of supply and demand as between lenders and borrowers, but it is a step in the direction of rebuilding confidence in the future of the financial structure of the United States government.

The controversy, simply stated, is over the power of the Treasury to refinance the national debt with interest rates that lenders are willing to accept. One would think that authority as simple as this would be immediately granted. But, unfortunately, the politicians who think the electorate is unable to understand the issue anyway are crying out that the government wants "to boost interest rates." The claim is made that the Treasury seeks to favor the bankers. But this is mere demagoguery of a political variety easily recognized in an election year.

Actually, the issue has backfired. It is the refusal to remove the ceiling on interest rates fixed by an old law that is today forcing interest rates up and making it difficult for borrowers to get mortgage money with which to buy houses except at unusually high rates.

From all parts of the country

protests have been voiced by issuers of mortgages, real estate groups and building and loan associations. They point out that, when the Treasury has had to pay higher and higher interest rates on notes of five years or less, there is a temptation for lenders to pull their money out of savings institutions and invest in the higher-interest-paying government securities.

The Democrats on the radical side who have been raising a false issue about high interest rates being sought by the government have unwittingly helped to boost the rates in the open market. The price at which money will flow from lender to borrower is not something that can be regulated by the government, because each person will determine to do what is best for himself. Nobody can be compelled to lend money at unattractive interest rates. If notes or bonds do not pay a high enough interest, the individual will put his money into stocks or tax-exempt securities that appear attractive to him.

In the last several months a chaotic condition has developed. Being unable to pay even a fraction of a point higher than four-and-one-quarter per cent on long-term bonds, the Treasury has had to keep on refinancing its debt with notes running less than five years. There is no ceiling on what the Treasury may lawfully pay in interest on these securities.

So, with $80 billion or more of notes coming due each year, the Treasury has had to pay higher and higher interest on short-term notes. This, in turn, has attracted investors who would otherwise make their funds available to savings banks or mortgage-finance companies or to similar institutions. The result is a shortage of funds for home building and purchase. When there is a shortage, the law of supply and demand forces the interest rate upwards and produces a lopsided setup in what normally is a well-balanced flow of money in both the long-term and the short-term field of securities.

The House Ways and Means Committee has agreed to let the Treasury go above the four-and-a-quarter per cent ceiling on interest rates but only for limited amounts — that is, to issues of approximately $5.8 billion in each fiscal year. This is hardly enough.

Even this proposal, however, will run into a roadblock in the Senate, where the politicians are preparing a fight against the House bill.

Meanwhile, uncertainty continues as the politicians recklessly tamper with the most delicate machinery in the whole government, namely, the management of the national debt and the re-funding operations necessary to keep America solvent.

All over the world financial and economic opinion has been one of dismay at the extent to which partisan politics is allowed to interfere with the efforts of the United States government to maintain confidence in the dollar.

Interest rates are bound to rise to a certain extent, just as do wage rates. The savings accumulated by a man's labor are entitled to equitable consideration. If he lends money today that isn't going to be returned to him in dollars of the same purchasing power a few years hence, he must be able to earn a good interest rate during the life of his loan. For inflation affects interest rates as it does everything else.

Tobacco Smoke, Cranberries, And Eye Color

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Excessive smoking affects the eyes in many ways. Tobacco amblyopia, a condition in which the cells of the retina and optic nerve are poisoned by nicotine, leads to dimness of vision or partial loss of sight. Many victims also drink too much.

Smokers develop bronchitis and the strain associated with coughing may lead to detachment or separation of the retina; hemorrhage may follow a severe cough. Some instances of bloodshot eyes are traced to the way many smokers sit at their work or hobby with smoke curling up into their eyes from a cigaret dangling from the mouth. In addition, smoke aggravates existing eye conditions, such as conjunctivitis.

The recent cranberry fiasco reminded us that cranberry juice has been used for years as a home remedy in kidney and bladder infections. It is not too satisfactory a treatment and hardly worth recommending, considering the long list of modern and effective urinary anti-septics on the market at present.

What is the rationale behind the remedy? Cranberry juice increases the hippuric acid content of the urine. This acid kills bacteria, provided the concentration is high enough. Cranberry juice fails, however, because only rarely does enough hippuric acid develop to destroy the causative organisms. The action is so inconsistent it is not worth recommending except over the bridge table and back fence by those who believe in folklore.

Does the color of the eyes

mean anything from the medical point of view? Many researchers have tried to correlate eye coloring with different diseases.

A Melbourne, Australia, dentist studied the reaction to pain and eye color in 403 consecutive subjects whose teeth were being worked on with a high speed drill. He concluded that the bluer the eyes, the less reaction to pain. He offered no explanation except that blue eyes are commoner in people of north European stock who are more phlegmatic than the dark brown eyed Mediterranean peoples.

EGGS OR STEAK?

F. W. writes: Are soft boiled eggs easier for a convalescent to digest than a tender steak?

REPLY: Yes, but since both are digestible, why not alternate them for the sake of variety?

FROZEN FOODS

J. M. writes: How safe and nutritious are frozen foods?

REPLY: Just as safe and nutritious as fresh or canned. The vitamin content of fruits and vegetables is reduced slightly on storing. In this respect they are not as nutritious as a food that is eaten five minutes after it is picked.

WOOL SOCKS

J. B. writes: Is it better for men to wear wool socks in winter, even though their feet perspire?

REPLY: Wool is warmer and more comfortable than cotton. The increased perspiration should not enter the discussion unless ringworm of the feet is present or the individual expects to remain out of doors in subzero weather for a long time.

Mayor Of Ancient Turkish City Dazzled By Busy California Town

By Drew Pearson

LOS ANGELES — The wide streets, the traffic lights, and the motorcycle cops of Torrance, Calif., are a lot different from the narrow, cobbled stone streets of Konya, Turkey. And the tidy California bungalows with their flower gardens blooming even in February are a lot different from the thick stone walls, red tile roofs, and freezing weather of Konya.

However, when the Mayor of Konya, Sitki Bilgin, with his wife arrived in Torrance on a people-to-people friendship mission this week, you would have thought the citizens of Torrance were as proud of their adopted city in Turkey as they are of Torrance. And they are quite proud of the latter.

This was one of the first people-to-people exchanges between the cities of the USA and cities of Europe, Asia, and Latin America which will take place this year. Mayor Bilgin and wife finally arrived from Turkey on a MATS plane, after the Defense Department had dilly-dallied, hesitated and procrastinated as to whether these two good-will emissaries should rate as high as a junketing bureaucrat's wife in getting free transportation.

This writer was at the Los Angeles airport to meet them. Despite a trip halfway round the world, Madame Bilgin looked as fresh as the red roses she clasped, while the mayor looked a little like Christopher Columbus must have looked when he discovered the new world by mistake. He was in for some fast tours of Disneyland, which was banned to Nikita Khrushchev, an inspection of Knott's Berry Farm, a series of banquets, fairs of shopping centers, schools, and even Marineland. There the Mayor of Konya later played "guest-feeder" to the tame whale "Bubbles," which jumps far out of the water to grab his noonday meal from anyone with enough nerve to hold it for him.

Torrance prides itself on being different from almost any other community — even in the USA. It has grown from 20,000 people in 1950, Mayor Albert Isen informed me, to 101,000 in 1960. And 81,000 in 10 years is some growth!

This is quite a contrast to ancient Konya, reputedly the home of Hercules and Prometheus and where the disciple Paul sought refuge from the Romans during the first days of Christianity.

However, Mayor and Madame Bilgin took everything in stride and were equal to all of the quite genuine hospitality arranged for by people-to-people committee chairman John Barton.

While this pilgrimage won't get the headlines of President Eisenhower's recent trip to Turkey, it's a small but important step in building peace and making democracy live.

Cancer-Causing Additives?

It isn't getting the headlines of the civil rights debate, but a highly important hearing on cancer-producing food additives has been held in the House Interstate Commerce Committee on proposals to relax the Food and Drug Act. Some of the big drug companies, plus the lipstick companies, want to soften the Delaney amendment which rules out additives and chemicals known to cause cancer in laboratory animals.

One of these, stilbestrol, has been banned by the government in poultry but is still used in the feeding of beef cattle, and Thomas Carney, vice president of Eli Lilly Co., told Congressmen that stilbestrol wasn't a cancer agent but improved the "quality" of beef.

"Can I walk into a drug store and buy a gallon of stilbestrol?" inquired Rep. John Dingell of Michigan. "I would have to have a doctor's prescription to get even a few milligrams, wouldn't I?"

"Yes," replied Carney, whose firm is a big producer of the controversial drug.

Dingell: "Why is it that I would have to have a prescription?"

Carney: "Because . . . you would get undesirable effects if you took too much."

Dingell: "It can have some dangerous effects upon human beings?"

Carney: "That is correct."

Dingell: "What percentage of stilbestrol consumed in this country is produced by your company, Eli Lilly?"

Carney: "Maybe as high as 75 per cent."

Dingell: "And the bulk of it goes into animals eventually sold for human consumption?"

Carney: "The bulk goes into feed for animals, principally cattle."

Dingell: "You are appearing before this committee as an 'expert.' Are you a cancer specialist?"

Carney: "I would not be able to tell one tumor from another."

NATO A-Weapons?

Gen. Lauris Norstad, the supreme NATO commander, has warned Eisenhower that nuclear warheads simply must be turned over to our allies. In case of war, he says, there won't be time to negotiate a formal transfer.

Norstad suggested one solution might be to grant legal custody to NATO, which is headed by an American.

Meanwhile he's keeping the nuclear warheads technically in American hands — though he has selected as the best place for storing several warheads the tops of missiles that have already been turned over to our allies. (Copyright 1960, by The Bell Syndicate)

SEC Troubles

By Leslie Gould

The proxy material for the Morris Townsend side of the fight for control of the $62 million Managed Funds, Inc., St. Louis Investment Trust, shows that he and his maze of companies are having SEC troubles of their own.

The proxy fight follows ouster of Managed Funds former management by the SEC on charges of mishandling the big trust's portfolio and payment of high brokerage commissions.

The Townsend group has been trying to take over for the last 10 months and almost got it without a fight. They have a cash deal with the old management contingent on victory in the proxy fight.

Two companies in the Townsend maze are Townsend Corp. of America and Townsend Management Co.

Townsend Corp. is the top holding company in the Townsend complex. It controls Resort Airlines and owns stock in Townsend Management, Townsend U. S. & International Growth Fund, Fiscal Counsel, Inc., Fiduciary Counsel, Inc., and in a couple of companies furnishing management to other open end trusts.

Townsend Management has an investment advisory contract with Townsend U. S. & International, a small mutual trust formed two years ago. It also has associate advisory contracts with Fiduciary Counsel, a wholly-owned subsidiary, and with FIF Management Corp. of Denver.

Morris Townsend and his wife "own or control, directly or indirectly, 63 per cent of the voting stock of Townsend Management." Townsend Corp. of America owns 132,000 shares, approximately 55 per cent, of the non-voting stock of Townsend Management Co.

The two companies—Townsend Corp. of America and Townsend Management — last month filed for registration with the SEC as investment companies.

Now it comes out in the proxy material in the Managed Funds fight.

"In the opinion of the staff of the Securities and Exchange Commission, Townsend Corp. of America and Townsend Management Co. were investment companies for a period of more than one year prior to their registration under the Investment Company Act and, according to such opinion, these companies violated provisions of the Investment Company Act in failing to so register prior to the date of the actual registration."

Then comes this — all in the proxy material.

"If these companies had registered as investment companies more than a year prior to the date of their actual registration as such, they would have been prohibited by the Investment Company Act from engaging in a number of transactions in which they did engage during that period, such as, the issuance of debt obligations and borrowing money without asset coverage as required by the Investment Company Act, the purchase and sale of securities, guarantees of loans, joint enterprises with affiliated persons, and the acquisition of securities in underwriting and investment advisory firms and a securities dealer."

Even though the proxy statement adds — "this opinion is not shared by respective officers of these companies or by their general counsel" — the SEC fails to answer this question:

How can a group, charged by the SEC staff with violating an SEC administered law, go after control of another big trust in trouble with the SEC?

It would seem that first things come first — disposal of the SEC charges against Townsend before the group can get SEC clearance to seek control of the other trust.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Hollywood old-timers recall a night when those two brilliant but recalcitrant old sinners, John Barrymore and Gene Fowler, were dining together at the Brown Derby. Barrymore was coughing incessantly. "Jack," Fowler finally told him, "there are two kinds of cough: a hangerover cough, and the one you haven't got."

Former Vice President John Garner of Uvalde, Tex., when past 80, admitted he no longer could see well enough to do any shooting on a hunt. "No, I can't see well enough to shoot," he would assure guests when he called for them at the airport, "so I just do the driving."

Frank Sullivan once asked a Texas host the size of his ranch. "No matter what you figure," the genial host assured him, "my place is just four times as big!"

Capital Punishment Gets New Scrutiny

A man serving a life sentence for kidnaping faces a mandatory death sentence for murder in a trial slated to open Monday in Washington, D. C. He is Russell Wayne Carpenter, accused of slaying three persons in a Washington restaurant in 1957. Mental tests have been ordered to see whether Carpenter is competent to stand trial, also to determine his mental condition at the time of the murders.

The District of Columbia is one of the last jurisdictions in the United States with a mandatory death sentence that leaves no discretion to the judge. The mandatory sentence is prescribed for first-degree murder.

The District's Judicial Conference voted last November in support of legislation that would let trial judges decide whether certain defendants must die for first-degree murder. Several states have gone much farther. Alaska, Delaware, Hawaii, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, Rhode Island, and Wisconsin have eliminated entirely or sharply restricted the use of capital punishment, as have Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown of California, where kidnaper Caryl Chessman received a 60-day stay of execution February 19, has stated he will sign any bill adopted by the legislature to abolish the death penalty.

The law-making body reconvenes Monday; Brown has asked it to express the will of the people on capital punishment.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

This Mechanical World

"Can you tell me when Flight X from Los Angeles will arrive? I understand it is delayed."

"I'll find out for you," says a sweet voice. After a pause, she comes back: "It was delayed three or four hours for mechanical servicing. We can only say that it was supposed to leave at 1 P. M. (The last time I phoned, the girl said that it would leave at noon.) We have no notice yet that it has left. Call in about an hour."

I say: "A passenger on that plane is due for dinner at 7 P. M. and for theater after that."

"Well," says the sweet voice, "in this mechanical age, anything can happen. It does not matter what business you're in, the machines do go wrong sometimes."

This is a very cheerful philosophy but not very encouraging. The airlines ought to have sufficient equipment so that they take the risk of a mechanical default. All they have to sell is time—speed. If the airplane does not give the passenger the advantage of reaching his destination on time, speedily, safely, surely, it does not perform its objective. The same is true of railroads. The same is true of busses. When the airplanes do not arrive on time or close to time, it can only be that their system is defective and requires correction, unless the failure is due to weather or another unfavorable act of God. A four or five hour delay in departure is a betrayal of the essential function.

The excuse of the airplane companies has always been that safety is more important than any other factor. It is not a valid excuse. In their calculations as to the cost of operations, they ought to include the item of stand-by equipment to replace any which may suddenly get out of order. In a word, if at 10 A. M., it is discovered that a plane cannot leave, because of a mechanical defect, a substitute plane ought to be made available to bring the passengers in.

I recognize the enormous cost of such a service, but when a common carrier sells a ticket to bring a person from one point to another, specifying the time of departure and arrival, that is a contract and should be kept. To fail to keep it is an unfair trade practice. Both the railroads and the airplane companies have become careless about time. It used to be that the Twentieth Century Limited of the New York Central boasted that it arrived on the dot and paid a penalty when it failed. Men took time seriously in those days as they did manners, politeness, outward decency.

One girl, in discussing an eight and a half hour delay of a jet plane, said: "I'm glad that they turned back." This may be good public relations. She was glad that they turned back; otherwise the passengers might have been killed. However, the alternative ought not to be death or delay; there could have been a stand-by plane available to take care of trouble.

The transportation system of the United States, like so much else of the post-war period, requires rationalization. The railroads have gone to pot on the whole, particularly the suburban lines of big cities which cannot compete with busses and private cars; crack trains have lost their elegance in competition with airplanes. The airplanes have become as stuck-up as a successful television pitchman. Someday, a clever airplane manager will devise a method of guaranteed performance even if he takes his time about it. He will say that his planes arrive approximately at such and such a time, advising those anxious about arrivals to call a certain number for more precise information.

I pose no simple problem because the cost of anything associated with airplanes is almost prohibitive. On the other hand, a service either stands up or it does not. The function of management is to make it as nearly perfect in proficiency as money and brains can make it. It is not my function to make what is called "constructive" criticism; I am not an engineer or a financier. Constructive criticism is their function; mine, as one of the public, is to complain when planes do not leave on time and do not arrive on time, or when baggage is lost.

Making Sam A Travelin' Man

Why Interest Rates Need Some Leeway

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The House Ways and Means Committee has made a start toward remedying the ill effects that have come from political tinkering with the nation's interest rates.

Spurred by the sensible leadership of Representative Wilbur Mills of Arkansas, Democrat, and the sympathetic attitude of Speaker Sam Rayburn, the House committee has approved a bill that gives the Treasury a certain amount of flexibility in fixing the interest rates on long-term government bonds. This doesn't go all the way toward removing the impediments to the natural operation of the law of supply and demand as between lenders and borrowers, but it is a step in the direction of rebuilding confidence in the future of the financial structure of the United States government.

The controversy, simply stated, is over the power of the Treasury to refinance the national debt with interest rates that lenders are willing to accept. One would think that authority as simple as this would be immediately granted. But, unfortunately, the politicians who think the electorate is unable to understand the issue anyway are crying out that the government wants "to boost interest rates." The claim is made that the Treasury seeks to favor the bankers. But this is mere demagoguery of a political variety easily recognized in an election year.

Actually, the issue has backfired. It is the refusal to remove the ceiling on interest rates fixed by an old law that is today forcing interest rates up and making it difficult for borrowers to get mortgage money with which to buy houses except at unusually high rates.

From all parts of the country

protests have been voiced by issuers of mortgages, real estate groups and building and loan associations. They point out that, when the Treasury has had to pay higher and higher interest rates on notes of five years or less, there is a temptation for lenders to pull their money out of savings institutions and invest in the higher-interest-paying government securities.

The Democrats on the radical side who have been raising a false issue about high interest rates being sought by the government have unwittingly helped to boost the rates in the open market. The price at which money will flow from lender to borrower is not something that can be regulated by the government, because each person will determine to do what is best for himself. Nobody can be compelled to lend money at unattractive interest rates. If notes or bonds do not pay a high enough interest, the individual will put his money into stocks or tax-exempt securities that appear attractive to him.

In the last several months a chaotic condition has developed. Being unable to pay even a fraction of a point higher than four-and-one-quarter per cent on long-term bonds, the Treasury has had to keep on refinancing its debt with notes running less than five years. There is no ceiling on what the Treasury may lawfully pay in interest on these securities.

So, with $80 billion or more of notes coming due each year, the Treasury has had to pay higher and higher interest on short-term notes. This, in turn, has attracted investors who would otherwise make their funds available to savings banks or mortgage-finance companies or to similar institutions. The result is a shortage of funds for

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

CIVIL WAR — Beginning on January 1, 1961, Washington and 38 other locations around the country will begin a four-year observance of the Civil War centennial years.

At present, the Washington group, a private organization, is broke. But nonetheless it has big plans for whooping it up when the time comes.

One of its most dazzling ideas is to have actor Raymond Massey play Lincoln at a re-enactment of Lincoln's Inauguration on March 4, 1961. Massey would appear before a present-day joint session of Congress and the whole thing would go out on a nationwide television hook-up.

Another spectacular is still a longer way off. The group hopes to have a bang-up parade down Pennsylvania Avenue in April, 1965, to mark the 100th anniversary of the end of the Civil War.

Tobacco Smoke, Cranberries, And Eye Color

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Excessive smoking affects the eyes in many ways. Tobacco amblyopia, a condition in which the cells of the retina and optic nerve are poisoned by nicotine, leads to dimness of vision or partial loss of sight. Many victims also drink too much.

Smokers develop bronchitis and the strain associated with coughing may lead to detachment or separation of the retina; hemorrhage may follow a severe cough. Some instances of bloodshot eyes are traced to the way many smokers sit at their work or hobby with smoke curling up into their eyes from a cigarette dangling from the mouth. In addition, smoke aggravates existing eye conditions, such as conjunctivitis.

The recent cranberry fiasco reminded us that cranberry juice has been used for years as a home remedy in kidney and bladder infections. It is not too satisfactory a treatment and hardly worth recommending, considering the long list of modern and effective urinary anti-septics on the market at present.

What is the rationale behind the remedy? Cranberry juice increases the hippuric acid content of the urine. This acid kills bacteria, provided the concentration is high enough. Cranberry juice fails, however, because only rarely does enough hippuric acid develop to destroy the causative organisms. The action is so inconsistent it is not worth recommending except over the bridge table and back fence by those who believe in folklore.

Does the color of the eyes

mean anything from the medical point of view? Many researchers have tried to correlate eye coloring with different diseases.

A Melbourne, Australia, dentist studied the reaction to pain and eye color in 403 consecutive subjects whose teeth were being worked on with a high speed drill. He concluded that the bluer the eyes, the less reaction to pain. He offered no explanation except that blue eyes are commoner in people of north European stock who are more phlegmatic than the dark brown eyed Mediterranean peoples.

EGGS OR STEAK?

F. W. writes: Are soft boiled eggs easier for a convalescent to digest than a tender steak?

REPLY
Yes, but since both are digestible, why not alternate them for the sake of variety?

FROZEN FOODS

J. M. writes: How safe and nutritious are frozen foods?

REPLY
Just as safe and nutritious as fresh or canned. The vitamin content of fruits and vegetables is reduced slightly on storing. In this respect they are not as nutritious as a food that is eaten five minutes after it is picked.

WOOL SOCKS

J. B. writes: Is it better for men to wear wool socks in winter, even though their feet perspire?

REPLY
Wool is warmer and more comfortable than cotton. The increased perspiration should not enter the discussion unless ringworm of the feet is present or the individual expects to remain out of doors in subzero weather for a long time.

Mayor Of Ancient Turkish City Dazzled By Busy California Town

By Drew Pearson

LOS ANGELES — The wide streets, the traffic lights, and the motorcycle cops of Torrance, Calif., are a lot different from the narrow, cobbled stone streets of Konya, Turkey. And the tidy California bungalows with their flower gardens blooming even in February are a lot different from the thick stone walls, red tile roofs, and freezing weather of Konya.

However, when the Mayor of Konya, Sitki Bilgin, with his wife arrived in Torrance on a people-to-people friendship mission this week, you would have thought the citizens of Torrance were as proud of their adopted city in Turkey as they are of Torrance. And they are quite proud of the latter.

This was one of the first people-to-people exchanges between the cities of the USA and cities of Europe, Asia, and Latin America which will take place this year. Mayor Bilgin and wife finally arrived from Turkey on a MATS plane, after the Defense Department had dilly-dallied, hesitated and procrastinated as to whether these two good-will emissaries should rate as high as a junketing bureaucrat's wife in getting free transportation.

This writer was at the Los Angeles airport to meet them. Despite a trip halfway round the world, Madame Bilgin looked as fresh as the red roses she clasped, while the mayor looked a little like Christopher Columbus must have looked when he discovered the new world by mistake. He was in for some fast tours of Disneyland, which was banned to Nikita Khrushchev, an inspection of Knotts Berry Farm, a series of banquets, tours of shopping centers, schools, and even Marineland. There the Mayor of Konya later played "guest-feeder" to the tame whale "Bubbles," which jumps far out of the water to grab his noonday meal from anyone with enough nerve to hold it for him.

Torrance prides itself on being different from almost any other community — even in the USA. It has grown from 20,000 people in 1950, Mayor Albert Isen informed me, to 101,000 in 1960. And 81,000 in 10 years is some growth!

This is quite a contrast to ancient Konya, reputedly the home of Hercules and Prometheus and where the disciple Paul sought refuge from the Romans during the first days of Christianity.

However, Mayor and Madame Bilgin took everything in stride and were equal to all of the quite genuine hospitality arranged for by people-to-people committee chairman John Barton.

While this pilgrimage won't get the headlines of President Eisenhower's recent trip to Turkey, it's a small but important step in building peace and making democracy live.

Cancer-Causing Additives?

It isn't getting the headlines of the civil rights debate, but a highly important hearing on cancer-producing food additives has been held in the House Interstate Commerce Committee on proposals to relax the Food and Drug Act. Some of the big drug companies, plus the lipstick companies, want to soften the Delaney amendment which rules out additives and chemicals known to cause cancer in laboratory animals.

One of these, stilbestrol, has been banned by the government in poultry but is still used in the feeding of beef cattle, and Thomas Carney, vice president of Eli Lilly Co., told Congressmen that stilbestrol wasn't a cancer agent but improved the "quality" of beef.

"Can I walk into a drug store and buy a gallon of stilbestrol?" inquired Rep. John Dingell of Michigan. "I would have to have a doctor's prescription to get even a few milligrams, wouldn't I?"

"Yes," replied Carney, whose firm is a big producer of the controversial drug.

Dingell: "Why is it that I would have to have a prescription?"

Carney: "Because . . . you would get undesirable effects if you took too much."

Dingell: "It can have some dangerous effects upon human beings?"

Carney: "That is correct."

Dingell: "What percentage of stilbestrol consumed in this country is produced by your company, Eli Lilly?"

Carney: "Maybe as high as 75 per cent."

Dingell: "And the bulk of it goes into animals eventually sold for human consumption?"

Carney: "The bulk goes into feed for animals, principally cattle."

Dingell: "You are appearing before this committee as an 'expert.' Are you a cancer specialist?"

NATO A-Weapons?

Gen. Lauris Norstad, the supreme NATO commander, has warned Eisenhower that nuclear warheads simply must be turned over to our allies. In case of war, he says, there won't be time to negotiate a formal transfer.

Norstad suggested one solution might be to grant legal custody to NATO, which is headed by an American.

Meanwhile he's keeping the nuclear warheads technically in American hands — though he has selected as the best place for storing several warheads the tops of missiles that have already been turned over to our allies. (Copyright 1960, by The Bell Syndicate)

SEC Troubles

By Leslie Gould

The proxy material for the Morris Townsend side of the fight for control of the $62 million Managed Funds, Inc., St. Louis Investment Trust shows that he and his maze of companies are having SEC troubles of their own.

The proxy fight follows ouster of Managed Funds former management by the SEC on charges of mishandling the big trust's portfolio and payment of high brokerage commissions.

The Townsend group has been trying to take over for the last 10 months and almost got it without a fight. They have a cash deal with the old management contingent on victory in the proxy fight.

Two companies in the Townsend maze are Townsend Corp. of America and Townsend Management Co.

Townsend Corp. is the top holding company in the Townsend complex. It controls Resort Airlines and owns stock in Townsend Management, Townsend U. S. & International Growth Fund, Fiscal Counsel, Inc., Fiduciary Counsel, Inc., and in a couple of companies furnishing management to other open end trusts.

Townsend Management has an investment advisory contract with Townsend U. S. & International, a small mutual trust formed two years ago. It also has associate advisory contracts with Fiduciary Counsel, a wholly-owned subsidiary, and with FIF Management Corp. of Denver.

Morris Townsend and his wife "own or control, directly or indirectly, 63 per cent of the voting stock of Townsend Management." Townsend Corp. of America owns 132,000 shares, approximately 55 per cent, of the non-voting stock of Townsend Management Co.

The two companies—Townsend Corp. of America and Townsend Management — last month filed for registration with the SEC as investment companies.

Now it comes out in the proxy material in the Managed Funds fight.

"In the opinion of the staff of the Securities and Exchange Commission, Townsend Corp. of America and Townsend Management Co. were investment companies for a period of more than one year prior to their registration under the Investment Company Act and, according to such opinion, these companies violated provisions of the Investment Company Act in failing to so register prior to the date of the actual registration."

Then comes this — all in the proxy material:

"If these companies had registered as investment companies more than a year prior to the date of their actual registration as such, they would have been prohibited by the Investment Company Act from engaging in a number of transactions in which they did engage during that period, such as, the issuance of debt obligations and borrowing money without asset coverage as required by the Investment Company Act, the purchase and sale of securities, guarantees of loans, joint enterprises with affiliated persons, and the acquisition of securities in underwriting and investment advisory firms and a securities dealer."

Even though the proxy statement adds — "this opinion is not shared by respective officers of these companies or by their general counsel" — the SEC fails to answer this question:

How can a group, charged by the SEC staff with violating an SEC administered law, go after control of another big trust in trouble with the SEC?

It would seem that first things come first — disposal of the SEC charges against Townsend before the group can get SEC clearance to seek control of the other trust.

LaSalle Trounces Allegany, 87-48, Wins City Title

Scaletta Gets 31 Points To Pace Victory

Long, Firlie Also Sparkle; Record Turnout On Hand

BY TED TROXELL

LaSalle High School's "on the go" Explorers were simply unstoppable last night in running off with an 87-48 win over Allegany and proving to some 2200 fans at Campobello that they richly deserve the title of city champions that came with the decisive victory.

The largest basketball crowd in the city's history filled the spacious new Alco gym to near-capacity in anticipation of an evenly-matched contest, such as the one staged by the two teams earlier in the season at the SS. Peter and Paul court, where LaSalle scored an overtime 52-50 victory.

However, things were close for only a few minutes last night. With the score tied at 5-5, Mike Long took a pass from Mickey Scaletta and scored on the run to give the Explorers a lead they steadily increased in rolling to their 19th win in 21 starts, including four straight in intra-city play. The Campers, whose record in city competition stands at 2-2, closed out their regular season schedule with a 14-7 log.

The Explorers conceded an edge in the height department, but more than made up for this deficit with their phenomenal shooting (32-59 from the floor) and give-and-go offense which clicked with precision.

Four Explorer cagers scored in double figures, with three of them—Scaletta, Long, and Mike Firlie—accounting for 72 of their team's 87 points. Scaletta, city scoring leader, drove through around, and behind the bewildered Alco defenders for layups, and also found the target with his jump shot as he scored 10 field goals and missed only one of 12 foul attempts to wind up a brilliant evening's work with 31 points.

Eleven of Scaletta's points came in the torrid final period, when the Explorers scored at a four points-per-minute clip as they tossed in 34 tallies to Allegany's 10. The third period ended with LaSalle holding a comfortable 53-38 advantage, and the Irish wasted little time in turning the game into a complete rout.

Stage Wild Threat

The Campers staged a superficial threat late in the third quarter when they cut the margin from 21 points down to 13. After a jumper by Scaletta gave LaSalle a 49-28 lead, the Blue and White cagers rattled off eight consecutive points on field goals by Doug Lutzer and Rob Gaffney, a free throw by Wayne Shook, and three-point play by Jerry Pentoney. This made it 49-36, but LaSalle quickly suppressed the rally.

The Irish missed only three of 14 field goal attempts in the final period, and this fantastic average, coupled with a 21-45 mark in the first three quarters, gave the winners a 542 percentage overall, as they canned most of their fielders under the basket, never being forced outside by the ineffectual Allegany defense.

The home team on the other hand, appeared to force its shots, particularly in the second half, and wound up making only 18 of 80, for a way below par percentage mark of 22.5.

Make 23 Free Throws

LaSalle also enjoyed a good night at the foul line, cashing in on 23 of 31 chances. The Campers converted only 12 of 27 tries.

Scaletta's 31-point performance upped his total for the season to 444 in 21 games, for an average of 21.1. Firlie hit on nine field goals in only 12 cracks and added three free throws for 21 points, and Long was right behind with 20. Carroll Wilt chipped in with ten.

Mervin Pope and Pentoney were the only Allegany cagers to score in double figures, sharing scoring honors for the Campers with 12 markers each.

Coach George Geatz sent his reserves into the game with several minutes remaining. When the buzzer sounded making the cherished victory official, jubilant LaSalle players and fans hoisted Coach Geatz and his assistant Dick Boyle to their shoulders in a spontaneous show of triumphant glee. Geatz and Boyle then received a dunking in the showers.

LASALLE'S CITY CHAMPIONS — Coach George Geatz's LaSalle High School Explorers clobbered Allegany High last night at Campobello by the score of 87-48 and sewed up the city basketball championship for the 1959-60 season with a 4-0 record. LaSalle beat the Campers in the first game of the series, 32-50, in overtime, and also swept its two-game series with Fort Hill, 52-50 and 65-46.

Roy Beard scored five points in the last seven seconds of a three-minute overtime period to give Bruce High School's Bulldogs a 59-58 decision over Valley High School last night at West-ernport as Coach Leonard Ritchie's Bulldogs won the Allegany County Class B title for the first time since 1954 and earned the right to play in next week's district tournament.

Bill Garlitz's field goal with 35 seconds remaining in the regulation game knotted the count at 54-54 and sent the battle into an overtime stanza.

Bobby Brown sent Valley to the fore at 58-54 with a field goal and two foul goals and then Beard took over and turned the tide in Bruce's favor with his five points.

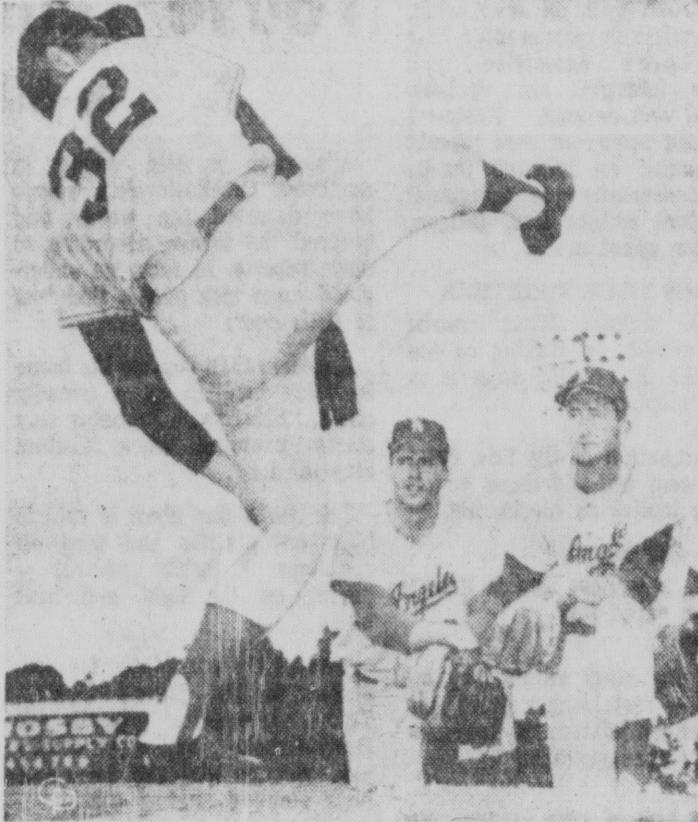

Beard and Brown accounted for all of the points scored in the extra period.

During the overtime period Bill Garlitz fouled out for the Black Knights.

Bill Wiltson was the "big gun" for Bruce with 17 points on seven goals and 3-4 fouls. Bill Wright collected 14 tallies and Bob Wiltson garnered 11. Jim Getty headed the Valley offensive with 22 points on six field goals and 10-10 performance at the foul line. Garlitz obtained 17 points and Brown racked up 13.

The defeat dethroned Valley as Class B champions, an honor they had earned for five consecutive years. The Black Knights goals in only 12 cracks and added three free throws for 21 points.

Bruce also beat Valley for the runner-up spot in the W. M. I. League by winning seven of 10 light games. Valley which lost the series opener to Bruce, 59-57, in at the Bowlmor Center in Barton.

Mt. Savage Tops Beall

Coach John Thomas' Mt. Savage High School Indians lowered the curtain on their W. M. I. schedule with a 55-33 victory over Beall High School at Mt. Savage. Beall held a 40-34 lead going into the final period but Rich Lybarger's basket knotted the count at 51-51. After the score was tied again at 53-53, foul goals by Lybarger and Fay Otten sewed up the decision for Mt. Savage.

Lybarger topped the Mt. Savage attack with 22 tallies on eight goals and 6-7 fouls. Jim Evans tossed in 22 points to spark Beall.

Flintstone Wins County Class C Title

Wallops Oldtown By 64-32 Score

Flintstone High School last night captured the Class C championship of Allegany County as they walloped Oldtown High School by the score of 64-32 at the ninth round in Madison Square Garden.

Coach Orville "Stoney" Jackson's cagers by winning last night earned the right to compete in the District 1 tournament next week.

Paced by Reed Clingerman who tallied 18 points, the Aggies took command early in the contest and never were headed. Ronnie Myers and Buddy Pufferberger chipped in with 12 and 10 points respectively.

The win by Flintstone gave them a sweep with the Oldtown Indians this season as they trounced the Oldtown team earlier, 76-40.

The Oldtown team was led by Eddie Wolfe who tossed in 13 points on five goals and three foul shots.

Victoria Park Is 7-5 Choice For Flamingo

HIALEAH, Fla. (UPI)—Victoria Park, a record-setting Canadian colt, headed a field of 12 named Friday to start in the $100,000-added Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah Saturday.

With 12 starters, the Flamingo will be worth a total $143,200 and the winner will get $90,880. It is the first big-money test of the first-year for the budding crop of 3-year-olds that are aiming for the Triple Crown, starting with the Kentucky Derby May 7.

Victoria Park, based on the track record defeat of Bally Ache last Saturday, was quoted at 7-5 on the early betting line. Eric Guerin was named to ride the colt owned by E. P. Taylor, president of the Canadian Jockey Club.

Bally Ache, to be ridden by Bob Ussery, was counted on to furnish the chief opposition to Victoria Park. Many handicappers also rated Bourbon Prince, with Bill Hartack up; all hands with Manuel Ycaza riding, and the Calumet Farm entry of Pied O'or and Hillsborough as close-up favorites.

Ed Machen Scores TKO Over Hunter

Bout Is Stopped In Ninth Round

NEW YORK (UPI)—Heavyweight contender Eddie Machen, fighting with unexpected savagery, battered Billy Hunter as left hooks and booming rights Friday night, floored him once, and won a technical knockout at 2:11 of the ninth round in Madison Square Garden.

Machen of Portland Ore., who had been accused recently of lacking "fire," turned on the heat Friday night in his debut at the Garden and gave Hunter a thorough beating.

When referee Al Berl stopped the fight, Hunter was being battered in his own corner. He was on rubber legs. His right eye was almost closed and he was bleeding from the mouth.

Hunter of Detroit, weighing 194 pounds to Machen's 196, went into the ring a slight favorite at 11-10 because he was expected to be the aggressor. And he tried to be; but he was met with solid left hooks and steaming straight rights that broke up his attack.

In the fourth round, Machen buckled Billy's knees with a right to the chin and then knocked him backwards with a left hook to the same spot. Hunter prevented himself from falling completely to the canvas by pressing his gloves to the floor. His haunches just brushed the canvas.

Referee Berl ruled it a knockdown. Hunter leaped up and took the mandatory eight-count on his feet. It was the only knockdown of the fight.

The contest, played at the Garden in conjunction with an ice show matinee, drew some 5,000 fans.

Bob Cousy scored 24 points for the winners, 13 of them in Boston's 20-point quarter. It was Boston's 35th win of the waning NBA season.

Elgin Baylor with 28 points was high for the losers and for the game. His hard-driving shots coupled with Hot Rod Hundley's sets put the Lakers into a 59-57 lead at the half.

Until the final period, the lead had changed hands 12 times. Boston's 20-point edge in the final period was more than enough to hand the Lakers their 47th loss of the season. Boston has lost only 15 games.

LaSalle Trounces Allegany, 87-48, Wins City Title

BY TED TROXELL

LaSalle High School's "on the go" Explorers were simply unstoppable last night in running off with an 87-48 win over Allegany, and proving to some 2200 fans at Campobello that they richly deserve the title of city champions that came with the decisive victory.

The largest basketball crowd in the city's history filled the spacious new Alco gym to near-capacity in anticipation of an evenly-matched contest, such as the one staged by the two teams earlier in the season at the St. Peter and Paul court, where LaSalle scored an overtime 52-50 victory.

However, things were close for only a few minutes last night. With the score tied at 5-5, Mike Long took a pass from Mickey Scaletta and scored on the run to give the Explorers a lead they steadily increased in rolling to their 19th win in 21 starts, including four straight in intra-city play. The Campers, whose record in city competition stands at 2-2, closed out their regular season schedule with a 14-7 log.

The Explorers conceded an edge in the height department, but more than made up for this deficit with their phenomenal shooting (32-59 from the floor) and give-and-go offense which clicked with precision.

Four Explorer cagers scored in double figures, with three of them—Scaletta, Long, and Mike Firlie—accounting for 72 of their team's 87 points. Scaletta, city scoring leader, drove through, around, and behind the bewildered Alco defenders for layups, and also found the target with his jump shot as he scored 10 field goals and missed only one of 12 foul attempts to wind up a brilliant evening's work with 31 points.

Eleven of Scaletta's points came in the torrid final period, when the Explorers scored at a four points-per-minute clip as they tossed in 34 tallies to Allegany's 10. The third period ended with LaSalle holding a comfortable 53-38 advantage, and the Irish wasted little time in turning the game into a complete rout.

Stage Wild Threat

The Campers staged a superlative threat late in the third quarter when they cut the margin from 21 points down to 13. After a jumper by Scaletta gave LaSalle a 49-28 lead, the Blue and White cagers rattled off eight consecutive points on field goals by Doug Luzier and Bob Gaffney, a free throw by Wayne Shook, and three-point play by Jerry Pentoney. This made it 49-36, but LaSalle quickly suppressed the rally.

The Irish missed only three of 14 field goal attempts in the final period, and this fantastic average, coupled with a 21-45 mark in the first three quarters, gave the winners a 342 percentage overall, as they canned most of their fielders under the basket, never being forced outside by the ineffectual Allegany defense.

The home team, on the other hand, appeared to force its shots particularly in the second half and wound up making only 18 of 80, for a way below par percentage mark of 22.5.

LaSalle also enjoyed a good night at the foul line, cashing in on 23 of 31 chances. The Campers converted only 12 of 27 tries.

Scaletta's 31-point performance topped his total for the season to 444 in 21 games, for an average of 21.1. Firlie hit on nine field goals in only 12 cracks and added also three free throws for 21 points, and Long was right behind with 20. Carroll Wilt chipped in with ten.

Mervyn Pope and Pentoney were the only Allegany cagers to score in double figures, sharing scoring honors for the Campers with 12 markers each.

Coach George Geatz sent his reserves into the game with several minutes remaining. When the buzzer sounded making the cherished victory official, jubilant LaSalle players and fans hoisted Coach Geatz and his assistant Dick Boyle to their shoulders in a spontaneous show of triumphant glee. Geatz and Boyle then received a dunking in the showers.

LaSalle's 19th win in 21 starts, including four straight in intra-city play. The Campers, whose record in city competition stands at 2-2, closed out their regular season schedule with a 14-7 log.

Paw Paw High Tops Berkeley In Tournament

Plays Deaf School In Finals Tonight

ROMNEY, W. Va. — Paw Paw High School, favorite to win the West Virginia 15-A sectional basketball tournament, last night downed Berkeley Springs High by the score of 65 to 50.

In the other semi-final game last night, West Virginia School Deaf trounced Capon Bridge High and will meet Paw Paw tonight in the finals of the tournament which are being held at the School for the Deaf gym.

The Paw Paw Pirates, paced by Kevin Edmonson who tallied 22 points, jumped off to a 17-9 first quarter lead and gradually built up a wide margin. Tom Malcolm added 17 markers for the Pirates.

John McCullough and Steve Henry each scored 18 points for Berkeley Springs, who had lost to Paw Paw three times earlier in the season.

West Virginia Deaf was led by Center Moses Vance who hit the nets for 31 points on 12 baskets and seven free throws. His teammate, Tom Jividen, added 19 markers.

Lloyd Brill paced the losing Capon Bridge cagers with 16 points.

Paw Paw, who has won the 15-A title for the past two years, defeated West Virginia Deaf during regular season play by scores of 72-58 and 71-51.

The Pirates ended the regular season with 15 wins and five losses, while the Lions concluded the campaign with a 7-12 mark.

Celtics Win Over Lakers

Boston Rings Up 128-111 Victory

BOSTON (UPI)—The Boston Celtics mounted a 38-point final period attack Friday to trounce the Minneapolis Lakers, 128-111, in a National Basketball Association game.

The contest, played at the Garden in conjunction with an ice show matinee, drew some 5,000 fans.

Bob Cousy scored 24 points for the winners, 13 of them in Boston's final quarter. It was the Celtics' 35th win of the waning NBA season.

Elgin Baylor with 28 points was high for the losers and for the game. His hard-driving shots coupled with Hot Rod Hundley's set action in the Class A division put the Lakers into a 59-57 lead at the half.

Until the final period, the lead had changed hands 12 times. Boston's 29-point edge in the final period was more than enough to hand the Lakers their 47th loss of the season. Boston has lost only 15 games.

Both the Class A and Class AA finals are Sunday afternoon at Memorial Field House.

Virginia Tech Tops GWU Cagers, 88-52

By United Press International

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—Miraculous Jerry West and West Virginia, breaking a record annee, smashed William and Mary 117-83 and ambitious Virginia Tech romped over George Washington 88-52 Friday night in the semi-finals of the Southern Conference basketball tournament.

West, scoring 36 points, brought his career total to 2,190 points, breaking the old West Virginia team mark of 2,180 held by Hot Rod Hundley — now of the Minneapolis Lakers.

The victories of the Mountaineers, firing for their sixth straight title, and top-seeded Tech set up a "dream" final Saturday night since the two teams did not meet in regular season play.

The winner will play at Madison Square Garden March 8 in the first round of the NCAA tournament for the national championship. Navy probably will be the opponent.

The Mountaineers' point total broke the old single game tournament record of 100 set by West Virginia's all-time single game high.

The Mountaineers, gaining revenge against the William and Mary team that snapped their conference victory streak at 56 this season, overcame a formidable height disadvantage with the work of the high-jumping West and center Joe Posch, a bulwark on the backboards.

Clarksburg, Weirton Cop Catholic Tilts

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Clarksburg Notre Dame and Weirton Madonna won opening round games Friday afternoon in the West Virginia Catholic high school basketball tournament.

Notre Dame defeated Morgantown St. Francis, 71-59, and Madonna ousted McMechen Bishop Donahue from the running by a 55-44 margin.

The Clarksburg and Weirton en-trants will clash Saturday afternoon at 3:45 p.m. in the Class AA game. His hard-driving shots coupled with Hot Rod Hundley's set action in the Class A division put the Lakers into a 59-57 lead at the half.

Until the final period, the lead had changed hands 12 times. Boston's 29-point edge in the final period was more than enough to hand the Lakers their 47th loss of the season. Boston has lost only 15 games.

Both the Class A and Class AA finals are Sunday afternoon at Memorial Field House.

Roy Beard scored five points in the last seven seconds of a three-minute overtime period to give Bruce High School's Bulldogs a 59-58 decision over Valley High School last night at Westport as Coach Leonard Ritchie's Bulldogs won the Allegany County Class B title for the first time since 1964 and earned the right to play in next week's district tournament.

Bill Garlitz's field goal with 55 seconds remaining in the regulation game knotted the count at 54-54 and sent the battle into an overtime stanza.

Bobby Brown sent Valley to the fore at 58-54 with a field goal and two foul goals and then Beard took over and turned the tide in Bruce's favor with his five points.

Beard and Brown accounted for all of the points scored in the extra period.

Wiltson Rings Up 17
Bill Wiltson was the "big gun" for Bruce with 17 points on seven goals and 34 tallies. Bill Wright collected 14 fouls and Rob Wiltson garnered 11. Jim Getty headed the Valley offensive with 22 points on six field goals and 10-10 performance at the foul line. Garlitz obtained 17 points and Brown racked up 13.

The defeat dethroned Valley as Class B champions, an honor they had earned for five consecutive years. The Black Knights goals in only 12 cracks and added also three free throws for 21 points, and Long was right behind with 20. Carroll Wilt chipped in with ten.

Mervyn Pope and Pentoney were the only Allegany cagers to score in double figures, sharing scoring honors for the Campers with 12 markers each.

Coach George Geatz sent his reserves into the game with several minutes remaining. When the buzzer sounded making the cherished victory official, jubilant LaSalle players and fans hoisted Coach Geatz and his assistant Dick Boyle to their shoulders in a spontaneous show of triumphant glee. Geatz and Boyle then received a dunking in the showers.

LaSalle's 19th win in 21 starts, including four straight in intra-city play. The Campers, whose record in city competition stands at 2-2, closed out their regular season schedule with a 14-7 log.

Mt. Savage Tops Beall
Coach John Thomas' Mt. Savage High School Indians lowered the curtain on their W. M. I. schedule with a 55-53 victory over Beall High School at Mt. Savage.

Beall held a 40-34 lead going into the final period but Rich Lybarger's basket knotted the count at 51-51. After the score was tied again at 53-53, foul goals by Lybarger and Fay Otten sewed up the decision for Mt. Savage.

Lybarger topped the Mt. Savage attack with 22 tallies on eight goals and 6-7 fouls. Jim Evans tossed in 22 points to spark Beall.

Flintstone Wins County Class C Title

Wallops Oldtown By 64-32 Score

Flintstone High School last night captured the Class C championship of Allegany County as they walloped Oldtown High School by the score of 64-32 at the Flintstone court.

Coach Orville "Stoney" Jackson's cagers by winning last night earned the right to compete in the District 1 tournament next week.

Paced by Reed Clingerman who tallied 18 points, the Aggies took command early in the contest and never were headed. Ron Myers and Buddy Pufinberger chipped in with 12 and 10 points respectively.

The win by Flintstone gave them a sweep with the Oldtown Indians this season as they trounced the Oldtown team earlier, 76-40.

The Oldtown team was led by Eddie Wolfe who tossed in 13 points on five goals and three foul shots.

Dave Jenkins Gives U. S. Second Olympic Gold Medal

By HAL WOOD
SQUAW VALLEY, (UPI) — Little Dave Jenkins, a whirlwind dervish on silver skates, gave the United States its second gold medal of the Olympic Games Friday with a brilliantly planned and executed come-from-behind victory in the men's figure skating.

Trailing young Karol Divin of Czechoslovakia going into Friday's final round of free-style skating, Jenkins put on such a spectacular exhibition of leaps, twists and twirls that he brought the crowd of 7,000, including former champion Sonja Henie and this year's gold medal winner in the women's figure skating, Carol Heiss, to its feet roaring approval.

Jenkins had 10 ordinands and 1440.2 points and Divin wound up in second place with 22 ordinands and 1414 points. Don Jackson of Canada came in third with 31 and 1401; Alain Giletti, France, was fourth with 31-1.399.2; Tim Brown, Berkeley, Calif., fifth, 43-1.374.1; and Alain Calmat, France, sixth with 54-1.340.3. Bob Brewer, the other U.S. entrant from Alhambra, Calif., finished seventh with 66-1.320.3.

Most Popular
It was the fourth gold medal award of the day—and the most popular with the partial crowd. Earlier, Ann Heggvi, an enchanting blonde secretary from Ottawa, Can., had won the ladies' giant slalom—and with it the world alpine combined championship.

But it was Jenkins, a five-foot, six, 23-year-old kid from Colorado Springs, who won the hearts of the crowd—and the judges.

Divin, former European champion, had led Jenkins through two days of compulsory figures. Jenkins had to be near-perfect to win.

And one of the judges who determined the winner was from Czechoslovakia. The Czech judge, Emil Skakala, was so impressed with the performance that he awarded him a "perfect six"—the first such award for any performer in eight days of men's and women's figure skating.

All Marks High
Jenkins drew a 5.8 from the French judge. The others, from Austria, Canada, Germany, Great Britain, Japan, Switzerland and United States, all showed marks of 5.9—one-tenth off perfect.

The other gold medals lined up this way:—Eugene Grishin of Russia and Roald Aas of Norway tied for the 1500-meter (the metric mile) men's speed-skating crown in 2:10.4.

—Sweden won the 15-kilometer (about 9 miles) three-woman cross-country relay, but Russia protested after Finland and Swedish skiers ran over one of their skiers. A decision on the protest won't be made until after the movies are reviewed—possibly Saturday morning.

Goes All Out
But Miss Heggvi was the darling of the crowd with about 15,000 in the sun-kissed Squaw Valley.

She had finished out of the money in both the giant slalom and downhill, so Saturday she decided to go all out.

"I didn't play it safe," said the pretty blonde. "It was just my day. After finishing 12th in the other events, I decided I had to go all out."

A championship skier since she was 15 and Canada's "Lady of the Year" in 1959, Miss Heggvi was clocked in an amazing 34 seconds on her first run down the twisting, rolling contours of the course. That was one 1.5 seconds better than any other first run. Her second run was in 35.6 seconds, exceeded only by Miss Snite's 55.5. But the Canadian 21-year-old went all out on the second run because "I wanted to win."

Miss Snite's second place finish gave the U. S. three silver medals in the ladies' alpine events—and they had hoped to win three gold ones. Miss Piton won second in both the downhill and giant slalom.

Tie Satisfies
Renie Cox, Port Leyden, N.Y., finished ninth in 1:59.2 and Beverly Anderson, Mullan, Idaho, 23rd in 2:13.1.

The 1500-meter speed skating was a battle of Europeans. Grishin, who already had won the 500 medal, was favored—but he didn't feel badly about settling for a tie. "I'm not greedy," he said. "I've got four gold medals (he won two in the 1956 games) now and I'm happy to get the tie."

Boris Stenin, another Russian, finished third; Juuko Jokinen of Finland was fourth; and 1590-meter world record-holder Jonko Jarvinen of Finland and Per Olof Brogren of Sweden tied for fifth in 1:13.1.

Top U. S. skater in the event was 17th place Dick Hunt of Los Angeles in 2:17.7. Floyd Bedbury, St. Paul, Minn., was 22nd in 2:18.9; Keith Meyer, Glen Ellyn, Ill., 29th in 2:21.7; and Eddie Rudolph, Northbrook, Ill., 35th in 2:23.1.

Bill Shoemaker Thrown, Injured

He was rushed to the track hospital and a spokesman said preliminary examination indicated he suffered no broken bones. He remained conscious and complained about his left leg. He could move it but it was painful, the spokesman said.

Shoemaker, 28, national riding champion last year and leader of the current Santa Anita meet with 64 winners, was aboard Graphite in the gate when he suddenly was toppled to the ground.

Shoemaker was scheduled to ride favored Bagdad in Saturday's Santa Anita Handicap.

Shoots 7-Under-Par 65 In Second Round

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Arnold Palmer, on the way to a record in golf money winnings, shot a 7-under-par 65 Friday to take the lead at 36 holes in the $20,000 Texas Open.

Fancy putting and deadly iron shots brought the pre-tournament favorite to the top with 134 as Frank Stranahan, the first day leader with a 64, faltered to a 73. Stranahan fell to second place with 137.

Palmer, who registers from Ligonia, Pa., has won $16,122.86 this year—the largest amount ever pocketed by a player at this period of the tour.

Stranahan, playing out of Crystal River, Fla., said his putter—the one given him by fellow pro Fred Hawkins—deserted him Friday. It boosted him to a 3-stroke lead in the opening round Thursday.

Wes Ellis Jr., a former San Antonio boy now playing out of West Caldwell, N.J., was making a gallant bid to keep the Texas Open championship he won last year. Ellis had another 69 to make his 36-hole total 133 and moved from a tie for fifth into third place—four strokes off the pace.

Doug Ford, the tournament veteran from Crystal River, Fla., shot a 71 for 139 and fourth place. Johnny Palmer of Tulsa and Rex Baxter of Ft. Sam Houston, tied for fifth at 140.

It was cutoff time and the low 60 professionals and ties plus 10 amateurs went into the final 36 holes Saturday and Sunday.

Doris Ann Porter's 321 Is New Record In Bowhunters Loop

Doris Ann Porter set up a high game record in the Cumberland Bowhunters League Thursday night at the Baltimore Pike Fire Hall when she turned in a score of 321.

The previous high of 308 was set by Bill Mills on January 14. The Mountaineers won four from the Blackhaws. The Fawns capped three games from the Bucks and the Bucks won two from the Fawns on Thursday night.

The scores: Bucks—Doris Ann Porter 321, Oscar Nash 277, Alan Porter 266 and George Williams 206.

Mountaineers—Sam Umstot 298, Arnold French 268 and Paul Lockard 258.

Fawns—Gene DeHaven 278, Bill Burkey 275, Martha Burkey 257 and Carolyn Burkey 230.

Other shooters—Bill Hayes 265, Ellsworth Lambert 257.

Fawns W. L. 22 28
Mountaineers 22 28
Blackhaws 22 28
Bucks 22 28

Lester Walker Dies Fought Bob Baker

They Wanted Coal Can Romney Do It?

By C. V. BURNS

WILLIAM Lester Walker, 35, former Cumberland amateur heavyweight boxer, died the other day at Clairton, Pa., according to "Buck" Trimble, our Baltimore Street correspondent.

Trimble recalls that Walker, a native of Cumberland, always boasted that he was the only boxer from this section to fight Bob Baker, the well-known Pittsburgh heavyweight, and he was telling the truth.

It was in November 1948 that Bob Baker, a 203-pounder, representing the Ledbetter A.C., of Pittsburgh, was scheduled to box Ed Knepp, of Lewistown, Pa., in a show staged at the State Armory by Albert "Bobby" Greene, who then was promoting under the banner of St. Mary's Athletic Club.

Knepp suffered a knee injury in football, came here on crutches and was unable to go through with the bout.

Walker was Knepp's substitute and as he stepped into the ring he looked as though he was scared to death.

Lester, scaling 184, threw a few wild punches at Baker then Bob pounded a left to the tummy and Lester went down for the full count in 1:57 of the opening round.

It was the only appearance here of Baker who later turned pro and fought all the leading contenders in recent years. Bob was stockily built but never got anywhere because of brittle hands. He had powerful shoulders and arms but he pushed his punches for fear he would crack up his hands which had undergone several operations.

The night that Baker stopped Walker, "Skeets" Starkey decided Omer Dart, of Pittsburgh, and Jimmie Foltz defeated Ray Stalone, Lewistown, Pa., in a pair of five-rounders.

A crowd of 833 attended the bouts, all of which were refereed by Jim Kelley Jr., with Randy Millholland and Jack Rorick as the judges, "Bobby" Cavanaugh, official timer, and Nelson W. Russell, announcer.

There were three other fight clubs operating here that year, the Diamond A.C., Royale A.C., and the Police Boys Club.

DURING the final game of the Tri-State Junior College Basketball Tournament last week at Suitland (Md.) High School one of the Potomac State players became disturbed because a leather lung in the gallery kept referring to the Potomac players as "youse coal miners."

Coach "Horse" Lough took his player aside and gave him this fatherly advice:

"Don't lose your head. If they keep yelling for coal just bury 'em in coal."

Judging from the final score (Potomac State 103, Montgomery College 69) it appears that the Montgomery team was not only buried but the tippie apparently fell in on them, too.

THE WEST VIRGINIA School for the Deaf passed up a chance to play in the Eastern States Deaf Schools Tournament at Hartford, Conn., this week because it is playing host to the Class A sectional tourney at Romney.

This is the first time the Lions of Romney missed the Deaf Schools tournament since 1954.

ROMNEY HIGH School (21-0) is the only undefeated high school team in the tri-state area this season and now the fans are wondering if the Pioneers can go all the way with tournament games ahead.

Seven Cumberland teams in the past missed it by a single game. Walter L. Bowers had two at Allegany—27-1 in 1933 and 24-1 in 1954.

"Bobby" Cavanaugh almost made it twice at Fort Hill. His 1931 team won 31 out of 32 games and his 1949 quint's record was 25-1.

Pat Conway's 1942 LaSalle team fell short 21-1 and Art Slocum's Explorers were 23-1 in 1943 and 25-1 in 1945.

An exceptional performance in duckpin bowling was turned in by Tom McGeedy last Saturday night when he made 30 consecutive marks in a Kelly Henpecked Mixed League match on the Club alleys. McGeedy turned in a 645 set.

Spahn To Get About $70,000

Braves' Southpaw Agrees To Terms

BRADENTON, Fla. (UPI)—Warren Spahn, the winningest left-handed pitcher in National League history, agreed to his 1960 contract with the Milwaukee Braves Friday for an estimated $70,000.

Spahn sealed the verbal agreement with General Manager John McHale via telephone from his Hartshorne, Okla., ranch.

McHale would not disclose what Spahn was paid, but he hinted that Spahn got what he wanted after turning down several efforts by McHale to hold him to a lower figure.

A reporter said to McHale, "I see you got Spahn." McHale replied, "No, he got me." Spring drills for pitchers and catchers started Friday, with right-handed ace Lew Burdette the only major starter still unsigned. Both he and Spahn had 21-15 records last year, and Burdette is also balking at what McHale wants to pay him.

Spahn will be 39 by the time the baseball season starts. He has won 20 or more games a season for 10 years, which is a major league record. This year Charley Dressen, the Braves' new manager, has said he is planning to give Spahn four days rest between assignments because of his league record.

Bronson Gets License As Boxing Matchmaker

Old Time Manager Is Connected With Feature Sports Inc.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jimmy (Bow Tie) Bronson, colorful old-time manager and promoter, was granted a license Friday by the New York State Athletic Commission to be matchmaker for Feature Sports Inc.

Roy M. Cohn's Feature Sports expects to stage the return Ingemar Johansson - Floyd Patterson heavyweight title fight at Polo Grounds on June 22. Last week the corporation was granted a promoting license by the commission.

For the June 22 show, the matchmaker's principal job will be pairing fighters for the supporting card.

Bronson, 73, was boxing director for the American Expeditionary Forces in the first world war. He staged 3,400 fights in Europe and refereed 1,020. He had 1,500 boxers under his direction.

Rebels Beat Sentinels In CVAL Finale

Santa Anita 'Cap Scheduled Today

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Kentucky-bred, California-owned Bagdad shapes up as the favorite for Saturday's $145,000 Santa Anita Handicap. He'll be making a bid for "horse of the year" honors for 1960.

The 4-year-old son of Double Jay, racing under the silks of Howard B. Keck of Beverly Hills, heads a field of 12 entered in the 23rd running.

The distance is a mile and one-quarter and the winner collects a guaranteed net purse of $97,900.

The Chief threats to Bagdad are Christopher Cheney's first landing C. V. Whitney's filly, Silver Spoon, and Mrs. Tillyou Christopher's Amerigo.

McIntire, Williams Play For Golf Title

ORMOND BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Barbara McIntire and Barbara Williams both won semifinal matches Friday and will meet Saturday in the finals of the women's South Atlantic amateur golf tournament.

Miss McIntire, national women's champion, took the 17th hole at par to close out Mrs. Alice Dye of Indianapolis 2 and 1 in the tightest of the day's two matches.

Miss Williams, 21-year-old California state champion, eliminated Marge Burns of Greensboro, N.C., 5 and 4. Mrs. Burns, who has been runnerup several times but never won the tournament, took bogeys on the last four holes.

Walker To Scout For NFL Giants

NEW YORK (UPI)—Douglas (Peabody) Walker, who retired last season as head coach of the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Professional Football League, Friday signed with the New York Giants of the National Football League as chief talent scout in the South.

A Giants spokesman said Walker will cover the Southeastern and Atlantic Coast conferences, which the club believes to be a rich field for pro prospects.

Walker, 59, was head coach of the Alouettes from 1952 through 1959. He was head coach at Wake Forest from 1937 through 1950 and assistant to the late Herman Hickman at Yale in 1951.

Orioles Sign Hoyt Wilhelm, Gus Triandos

Seven Baltimore Players Unsigned

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two of the Baltimore Orioles' major contract problems were resolved Friday when the club announced the signings of knuckleball pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm and catcher Gus Triandos.

Wilhelm posted a 15-11 record last season after starting with 219 consecutive victories. His 2.19 earned run average was the best in the American League.

The 36-year-old right-hander reportedly received a sizable pay boost, putting him in the $21,000 category.

The 29-year-old slugger hit 25 homers last year and drove in 73 runs.

Grishin Of Russia, Aas Of Norway Tie In Speed-Skating

By HAL WOOD SQUAW VALLEY, (UPI) — Little Dave Jenkins, a whirling dervish on silver skates, gave the United States its second gold medal of the Olympic Games Friday with a brilliantly planned and executed come-from-behind victory in the men's figure skating.

Trailing young Karol Divin of Czechoslovakia going into Friday's final round of free-style skating, Jenkins put on such a spectacular exhibition of leaps, twists and twirls that he brought the crowd of 7,000, including former champion Sonja Henie and this year's gold medal winner in the women's figure skating, Carol Heiss, to its feet roaring approval.

Jenkins had 10 ordinals and 1440.2 points and Divin wound up in second place with 22 ordinals and 1414 points. Don Jackson of Canada came in third with 31 and 1401; Alain Giletti, France, was fourth with 31-1.399.2; Tim Brown, Berkeley, Calif., fifth, 43-1.374.1; and Alain Calmat, France, sixth with 54-1.340.3. Bob Brewer, the other U.S. entrant from Alhambra, Calif., finished seventh with 66-1.320.3.

Most Popular It was the fourth gold medal award of the day—and the most popular with the partial crowd.

Earlier, Ann Heggveit, an enchanting blonde secretary from Ottawa, Can., had won the ladies' giant slalom—and with it the world alpine combined championship.

But it was Jenkins, a five-foot, six, 23-year-old lad from Colorado Springs, who won the hearts of the crowd—and the judges.

Divin, former European champion, had led Jenkins through two days of compulsory figures. Jenkins had to be near-perfect to win.

And one of the judges who determined the winner was from Czechoslovakia. The Czech judge, Emil Skakala, was so impressed with the performance that he awarded him a "perfect six"—the first such award for any performer in eight days of men's and women's figure skating.

All Marks High Jenkins drew a 5.8 from the French judge. The others, from Austria, Canada, Germany, Great Britain, Japan, Switzerland and United States, all showed marks of 5.9—only one-tenth off perfection.

The other gold medals lined up this way:

—Eugene Grishin of Russia and Roald Aas of Norway tied for the 1500-meter (the metric mile) men's speed-skating crown in 2:10.4.

—Sweden won the 15-kilometer (about 9 miles) three-woman cross-country relay, but Russia protested after Finland and Swedish skiers ran over one of their skiers. A decision on the protest won't be made until after the movies are reviewed—possibly Saturday morning.

Goed All Out But Miss Heggveit was the darling of the crowd of about 15,000 in the sun-kissed Squaw Valley.

She had finished out of the money in both the giant slalom and downhill, so Saturday she decided to go all out.

"I didn't play it safe," said the pretty blonde. "It was just my day. After finishing 12th in the other events, I decided I had to go all out."

A championship skier since she was 15 and Canada's "Lady of the Year" in 1959, Miss Heggveit was clocked in an amazing 34 seconds on her first run down the twisting, rolling contours of the course. That was one 1.5 seconds better than any other first run. Her second run was in 35.6 seconds, exceeded only by Miss Snite's 55.3. But the Canadian 21-year-old went all out on the second run because "I wanted to win."

Miss Snite's second place finish gave the U. S. three silver medals in the ladies' alpine events—and they had hoped to win three gold ones. Miss Pitou won second in both the downhill and giant slalom.

Tie Satisfies Renie Cox, Port Leyden, N.Y., finished ninth in 1:59.2 and Beverly Anderson, Mullan, Idaho, 28th in 2:13.1.

The 1500-meter speed skating was a battle of Europeans. Grishin, who already had won the 500 medal, was favored—but he didn't feel badly about settling for a tie. "I'm not greedy," he said. "I've got four gold medals (he won two in the 1956 games) now and I'm happy to get the tie."

Boris Stenin, another Russian, finished third; Juuko Jokinen of Finland was fourth; and 1500-meter world record-holder Jonko Jarvinen of Finland and Per Olof Brogren of Sweden tied for fifth in 1:13.1.

Top U. S. skater in the event was 17th place Dick Hunt of Los Angeles in 2:17.7. Floyd Bedbury, St. Paul, Minn., was 22nd in 2:18.9; Keith Meyer, Glen Ellyn, Ill., 29th in 2:21.7; and Eddie Rudolph, Northbrook, Ill., 35th in 2:23.1.

Bill Shoemaker Thrown, Injured

He was rushed to the track hospital and a spokesman said preliminary examination indicated he suffered no broken bones. He remained conscious and complained about his left leg. He could move it but it was painful, the spokesman said.

Shoemaker, 28, national riding champion last year and leader of the current Santa Anita meet with 64 winners, was aboard Graphite in the gate when he suddenly was toppled to the ground.

Shoemaker was scheduled to ride favored Bagdad in Saturday's Santa Anita Handicap.

Shoots 7-Under-Par 65 In Second Round

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Arnold Palmer, on the way to a record in golf money winnings, shot a 7-under-par 65 Friday to take the lead at 36 holes in the $20,000 Texas Open.

Fancy putting and deadly iron shots brought the pre-tournament favorite to the top with 134 as Frank Stranahan, the first day leader with a 64, faltered to a 73. Stranahan fell to second place with 137.

Palmer, who registers from Ligonier, Pa., has won $16,122.86 this year—the largest amount ever pocketed by a player at this period of the tour.

Stranahan, playing out of Crystal River, Fla., said his putter—the one given him by fellow pro Fred Hawkins—deserted him Friday. It boosted him to a 3-stroke lead in the opening round Thursday.

Wes Ellis Jr., a former San Antonio boy now playing out of West Caldwell, N.J., was making a gallant bid to keep the Texas Open championship he won last year. Ellis had another 69 to make his 36-hole total 138 and moved from a tie for fifth into third place—four strokes off the pace.

Doug Ford, the tournament veteran from Crystal River, Fla., shot a 71 for 139 and fourth place. Johnny Palmer of Tulsa and Rex Baxter of Ft. Sam Houston, Tex. finished at 140.

It was cutoff time and the low 60 professionals and ties plus 10 amateurs went into the final 36 holes Saturday and Sunday.

Doris Ann Porter's 321 Is New Record In Bowhunters Loop

Doris Ann Porter set up a high game record in the Cumberland Bowhunters League Thursday night at the Baltimore Pike Fire Hall when she turned in a score of 321.

The previous high of 308 was set by Bill Mills on January 14. The Mountaineers won four from the Blackhaws, the Fawns copped three games from the Bucks and the Bucks won two from the Fawns on Thursday night.

The scores: Bucks—Doris Ann Porter 321, Oscar Nash 277, Alan Porter 266 and George Williams 206.

Mountaineers—Sam Umstot 298, Arnold French 268 and Paul Lockard 258.

Fawns—Gene DeHaven 278, Bill Burke 275, Martha Burke 257 and Carolyn Burke 230.

Blackhaws—Bill Mills 283, Paul Stickley 263.

Lester Walker Dies Fought Bob Baker They Wanted Coal Can Romney Do It?

By C. V. BURNS

WILLIAM Lester Walker, 35, former Cumberland amateur heavyweight boxer, died the other day at Clairton, Pa., according to "Buck" Trimble, our Baltimore Street correspondent.

Trimble recalls that Walker, a native of Cumberland, always boasted that he was the only boxer from this section to fight Bob Baker, the well known Pittsburgh heavyweight, and he was telling the truth.

It was in November 1948 that Bob Baker, a 203-pounder, representing the Ledbetter A.C., of Mixed League match on the Club Pittsburgh, was scheduled to box Ed Knepp, of Lewistown, Pa., in a 645 set.

A show staged at the State Armory by Albert "Bobby" Greene, who then was promoting under the banner of St. Mary's Athletic Club.

Knepp suffered a knee injury in football, came here on crutches and was unable to go through with the bout.

Walker was Knepp's substitute and as he stepped into the ring he looked as though he was scared to death.

Lester, sealing 184, threw a few wild punches at Baker then Bob pounded a left to the tummy and Lester went down for the full count in 1:57 of the opening round.

It was the only appearance here of Baker who later turned pro and fought all the leading contenders in recent years. Bob was stockily built but never got anywhere because of brittle hands. He had powerful shoulders and arms but he pushed his punches for fear he would crack up his hands which had undergone several operations.

The night that Baker stopped Walker, "Skeets" Starkey declined Omer Dart, of Pittsburgh, and Jimmie Folk defeated Ray Stalone, Lewistown, Pa., in a pair of five-rounders.

A crowd of 833 attended the bouts, all of which were refereed by Jim Kelley Jr., with Randy Millholland and Jack Rorick as the judges. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, official timer, and Nelson W. Russell, announcer.

There were three other fight clubs operating here that year, the Diamond A.C., Royale A.C., and the Police Boys Club.

DURING the final game of the Tri-State Junior College Basketball Tournament last week at Suitland (Md.) High School one of the Potomac State players became disturbed because a leather-lung in the gallery kept referring to the Potomac players as "youse coal miners."

MIKE LONG SCORES — LaSalle routed Allegany by the score of 87-48 last night at Campobello and won the city championship. Mike Long is shown scoring for the Explorers on a layup which Mervin Pope of the Campers tried to block. LaSalle scored 32 field goals and Long figured prominently in the fireworks with a total of 20 points.

Fort Hill Drops 10 In Row, 59-52

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Kentucky-bred, California-owned Bagdad shapes up as the favorite for Saturday's $145,000 Santa Anita Handicap. He'll be making a bid for "horse of the year" honors for 1960.

The 4-year-old son of Double Jay, racing under the silks of Howard B. Keck of Beverly Hills, heads a field of 12 entered in the 23rd running.

The distance is a mile and one-quarter and the winner collects a guaranteed net purse of $97,900.

The Chief threats to Bagdad are Christopher Chenery's First Landing C. V. Whitney's filly, Silver Spoon, and Mrs. Tillyou Christopher's Amerigo.

McIntire, Williams Play For Golf Title

ORMOND BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Barbara McIntire and Barbara Williams both won semifinal matches Friday and will meet Saturday in the finals of the women's South Atlantic amateur golf tournament.

Miss McIntire, national women's champion, took the 17th hole at par to close out Mrs. Alice Dye of Indianapolis 2 and 1 in the tightest of the day's two matches.

Miss Williams, 21-year-old California state champion, eliminated Marge Burns of Greensboro, N.C., 5 and 4. Mrs. Burns, who has been runnerup several times but never won the tournament, took bogeys on the last four holes.

Walker To Scout For NFL Giants

NEW YORK (UPI)—Douglas "Peashead" Walker, who retired last season as head coach of the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Professional Football League, Friday signed with the New York Giants of the National Football League as chief talent scout in the South.

A Giants spokesman said Walker will cover the Southeastern and Atlantic Coast conferences, which the club believes to be a rich field for pro prospects.

Walker, 59, was head coach of the Alouettes from 1952 through 1959. He was head coach at Wake Forest from 1937 through 1950 and assistant to the late Herman Hickman at Yale in 1951.

Orioles Sign Hoyt Wilhelm, Gus Triandos

Seven Baltimore Players Unsigned

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two of the Baltimore Orioles' major contract problems were resolved Friday when the club announced the signings of knuckleball pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm and catcher Gus Triandos.

Wilhelm posted a 15-11 record last season after starting with nine consecutive victories. His 2.19 earned run average was the best in the American League.

The 36-year-old right-hander reportedly received a sizable pay boost, putting him in the $21,000 category.

Triandos, whose average dipped to .216 after a foul tip severely bruised his right hand Aug. 1, is believed to have signed for $22,000—an estimated $2,000 cut from last season.

The 29-year-old slugger hit 25 homers last year and drove in 73 runs.

The Orioles also announced the signing of rookie outfielder Al Nagel, who played for Amarillo last year.

Seven Baltimore players remained unsigned, including outfielders Gene Woodling, Willie Tasby and Albie Pearson.

Pearson and second baseman Billy Gardner already are in camp, although not due until March 1. Pitchers and catchers are scheduled to hold their first practice Saturday.

Pony League Meets Sunday

Circuit Prepares For 7th Campaign

A meeting of the Bi-State Pony Baseball League will be held Sunday at 2 p. m., at the Frostburg City Hall.

The league is for players 13 to 15 years of age and has been in operation for the past six years.

Six teams in the circuit last year were the Frostburg Little Moos, Mt. Savage, Cresaptown, Lonaconing, Ellerslie and La-Vale.

Officers of the league are: Melvin Sloan, president; Harry Eisel, vice president; Bill Preston, treasurer, and Robert Golds-worth, secretary.

Holdover teams from 1959 and other teams interested are invited to send representatives to Sunday's meeting.

Bison Rally Nips Hyndman, 68-67

A come-from-behind rally in the final period last night gave Bedford High School's Bisons a 68-67 triumph over the Hyndman Hornets in a Bedford County League game on the latter team's floor.

The Bisons trailed by seven points, 44-51, at the end of the third period, but outscored the opposition, 24-16, in the final frame. Leo McKenzie's field goal and foul broke a 63-65 tie with 15 seconds to go.

Keeping Up With Hollywood by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Threats of the to her character expire when the strike notwithstanding, Buddy Ad- stage musical "Gypsy" is ended. ler has just purchased "Trap for a Man," a hit French play now running at the Bouffes Jennes story," she said, "and I don't Theater in Paris. It's described want to do anything to jeopard- a suspense thriller on the size it."

Hitchcock type, and was written by a young actor named Robert Thomas.

Buddy not only purchased the film rights, but also the stage rights, and the play will be produced on Broadway this fall under the aegis, of course, of 20th-Century-Fox. It's a little early for casting, Buddy says, but he believes "Trap" will be as much of a smash in the USA as it is in France.

Little did Ross Hunter know what he was going to run up against when he made inquiries regarding the screen rights to "Gypsy" while in New York. Gypsy Rose Lee said there would be no difficulty, but when I talked to June Havoc, she said the rights

She told me that "Gypsy" is a fable and said that it is so printed on the programs. She said that Ross has read "Early Havoc" and likes it. I asked June about her ex-husband Bill Spiers with whom she dined at the Captain's table. "He's still my best boyfriend," she said.

You can say for Elizabeth Taylor she doesn't take the honors that come her way lightly (which is more than can be said for some glamor girls). Liz is so pleased at her nomination for top actress of the year by the Hollywood Foreign Press Association that she called President Bertil Unger and Leroy Prinz (staging the show) that she is flying out from New York to attend the dinner March 8. Eddie Fisher is coming with her and they will be in Hollywood just 24 hours. Immediately after the dinner both Liz and Eddie fly back to New York to continue in "Butterfly 8".

Only two thirds of "Let's Fall in Love," the Marilyn Monroe movie is finished. Marilyn has worked for four straight days now without being sick, but prior to this she has been out every week with some illness or other. If the actors strike come off March 7, there will be no way of completing this long drawn-out movie, and 20th-Century-Fox is greatly concerned.

Many studios are working Saturdays and Sundays, as well as nights, and "Oceans 11" starts overtime shooting Saturday at Warner Bros. It seems unlikely to me, however, that Marilyn will work nights, Saturdays or Sundays. One thing, the big song and dance numbers in "Let's Fall in Love" have already been filmed.

It's not difficult to see in what direction Universal-International is heading. They have already settled the writers' strike and are now talking business, independent of the other major companies, with the Screen Actors' Guild.

Since the studio has been in the hands of Milton Rackmil, Universal-International has made a point of operating on its own course. Three months ago Rackmil assured his fellow studio heads by asking to get out of the Producers Association. Despite this lone wolf policy, Doris Day in "Pillow Talk" (U-I picture) was nominated in the best actress category.

All Alice Fay and Phil Harris have to do is say "yes" to an offer brought to them by Jay Herbert from a Chicago advertising firm, for a TV series. In fact Herbert left today for Palm Springs to talk to Mr. and Mrs. Harris.

"We have sponsors," said Herbert, "and we have the writers who wrote the 'I Love Lucy' TV show. Also Desi Arnaz has said he wants the program for Desilu. The only trouble is pinning Phil down."

The Harrises live in Palm Springs most of the year, and Phil is on the golf course much of the time.

59 FORD
4 DOOR

We have in stock this 4 door sedan with 6 cylinder engine and standard transmission. This is Ford's economical car and it shows the excellent care the former local owner gave this beauty.
It has an all white finish and the interior is a spotless
2 tone of blue nylon and vinyl.
The equipment includes radio, heater, defroster, signal lights,
side mirror, foam rubber seats, backup lights, good tires with winter tread on rear. You will have to see and drive this wonderful car to know the value you are getting at

Market loses Higher Despite Selling Burst

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market finished substantially higher on most fronts Friday despite a burst of selling shortly before the close.

Electronics and steel led the general list into higher ground from the opening, but fell from their better levels when the late profit-taking hit in the closing minutes.

Twenty-three issues reached new highs for the year against 17 new lows. It was the first time since Jan. 6 that the high outnumbered the lows on a given trading day.

Brokers were hopeful the two-day advance on increased volume was the start of a sustained rally.

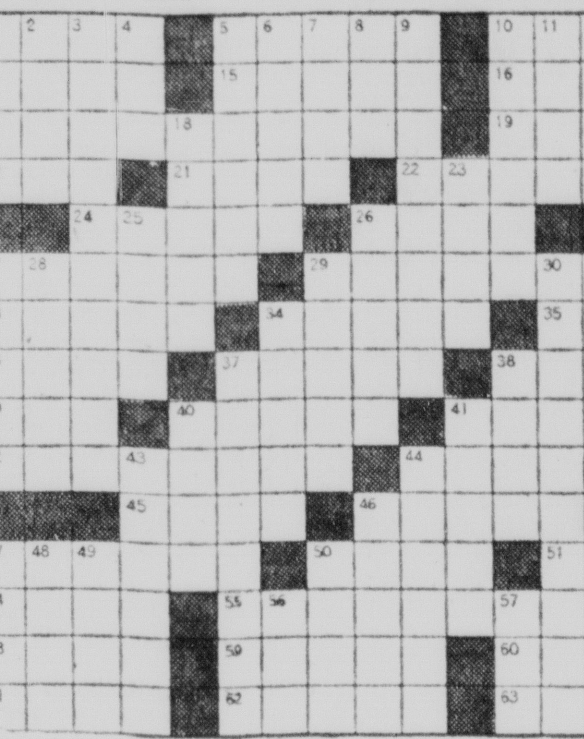

Steels featured gains of more than 2 in Youngstown and more than a point each in Republic and U.S. Steel.

American Motors jumped nearly 3 in the autos where the price trend was mostly erratic and little changed from the day before. Ford lost a point. Chrysler a fraction. General Motors firmed, as did White Motors.

Industrial stocks rose more

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grain futures were in regular Friday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was off 1/4 to 1/2, corn off 1/4 to 1/2, oats unchanged to 1/4 to 1/2, soybeans off 1/4 to 1/2.

Most of the trading consisted of evening-up transactions and liquidation in the March contracts prior to first delivery notice due Monday.

Old crop wheat, soy and soybean futures lost almost a cent before short covering and scattered buying arrested the decline. Oats futures resisted the delivery talk and liquidation.

Wheat was easy in the nearby and steady in the distant months. A demand for March came from commercial houses on the dip, and reports of substantial sales of red and hard wheat to Poland added further support.

Corn was mostly steady. Exporters and commission houses bought May.

Oats ranged from steady in the nearby to easy in the distant crop months. Northwest wheat and shorts bought the March.

Rye was mixed. Pressure came from a lower Winnipeg market, liquidation and some stop loss selling.

Old crop soybeans rallied to close easy. An export house bought. Meats were easier.

Outside markets were mixed.

'Bolita Queen' Given 15-Year Sentence

MIAMI (UPI)—The so-called white "Bolita Queen" of a south Dade County Negro district drew a 15-year prison sentence here for murder.

The woman's ex-husband, former Dade County Deputy Robert W. Thomas, was convicted of the $200,000 robbery - slaying in 1955 of Mrs. Lulu Rossman, wealthy Philadelphia widow.

Thomas' former wife, was convicted Feb. 3 for third degree murder in connection with the slaying of Norman King, 34, a Negro, last Oct. 12. She testified at the trial she had fired a gun accidentally through a house window when frightened by the figure of a man in a dark alley.

Hospital Aid Deadline Set

Tawes Says Avenues Exhausted

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes advised the mayor of Frostburg he has "exhausted all avenues of possible assistance" in continuing state aid to Miners Hospital.

Direct State aid for the hospital is to end after next fiscal year, which begins July 1.

Mayor Joseph E. James of Frostburg had written the governor Jan. 28 asking for a conference to discuss continuing the aid.

The governor reminded the mayor that the board of trustees of the hospital has had five years "in which to prepare for some future plan of action and operation."

He said that a gradual withdrawal of State aid over the period had been agreed to by the directors and former Gov. McKeldin.

It was only by considerable persuasion on the part of the Allegheny County delegation and myself, Gov. Tawes wrote the mayor, that the same appropriation of $83,000 was provided for this fiscal year. It was supposed to be cut in half under the agreement.

The governor said that while the direct appropriation will be discontinued, Miners Hospital still will receive $40,000 from the State for the first time under the welfare indigent patient program.

He also pointed out that whoever takes over its operations "will be acquiring from the State, without cost, a physical plant worth upwards of a million dollars."

More Than 200 Heart Sunday Leaders Ready For Tomorrow's Campaign Here

More than 200 area chairmen, captains and workers are all set for tomorrow's door-to-door Heart Sunday solicitation in Cumberland, according to Mrs. William H. Macy, Heart Sunday chairman.

The Heart Sunday solicitation is a major phase of the Allegheny-Garrett County Heart Association's Heart Fund drive seeking $26,205 during the month of February in the two western-most counties of Maryland, George R. Hughes Jr., is serving as general chairman of the campaign.

Mrs. Macy issued a reminder to all workers to read through the material enclosed in their kits so that they will have the answers to most questions which may arise.

Following are the Heart Sunday leaders in the various areas within the city limits of Cumberland:

Upper Centre Street and Mechanic Street — Mrs. James Kerr, chairman; Miss Elizabeth Kerr, captain; Miss Diane Geatz, Miss Susie Kilroy, Miss Eleanor Kerr, Miss Sharon Shober and Miss Sue Hafer, workers.

Garrett Gets New Supply Of Snow

Route 40 West Is Slippery

Motorists traveling along highways of Garrett County last night ran into zero visibility, according to State Police who said a blizzard-like storm was prevalent at Long Stretch, Keyser's Ridge and Route 495.

The storm last night was intense from the vicinity of Oakland to Deep Creek Lake. Crews of the State Roads Commission were out last night in an attempt to keep Route 495 from closing due to drifting snow.

Some slight drifts were noted on U.S. Route 40 which was snow covered and slippery west of Frostburg. East of Cumberland, Route 40 was clear and dry.

Eight Plows

A spokesman for the SRC said about eight snow plows would probably be placed in service in Garrett County last night to fight the elements.

From one to three inches of fresh snow had fallen in Garrett County areas by 8 p.m. yesterday, police said. The SRC spokesman said the situation was "not bad" but "not good."

Most highways in that county were snow-covered, the spokesman said. Snow fell most of the day in Garrett County and last night it was being whipped about by the high winds.

The temperature hovered around the 22 mark in the Oakland area last night. The sheriff's office said the weather in Oakland was "bad."

Snow was being blown about in Frostburg last night. The temperature was about 25 above zero in that mountain community which bore the brunt of the storm a week or so ago.

Some streets in Frostburg were slippery last night. William Preston, streets commissioner, said that heavy equipment is available at a moment's notice in the event there is a repeat performance by the weatherman. About half an inch of new snow fell in Frostburg early last evening.

Cumberland Flurries

Cumberland had a few flurries during the day and last night but it was not measurable according to Robert Golden, weather observer, who said the high temperature reading was 35 degrees and the low reading was 29 degrees. At 6 p.m. the temperature was 31 degrees he said.

Mostly sunny weather is forecast for Western Maryland today and the mercury is expected to range from 25 to 30 degrees above zero in Garrett County and slightly warmer in Allegheny County.

Three Enter Guilty Pleas To Burglary

Judge Requests Background Study

Three Bowman's Addition residents arrested recently by State Police in connection with a series of burglaries were arraigned yesterday afternoon before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegheny County Circuit Court.

Olin Calvin Miller, 33, James Edward Crowe, 24, and James Allen Hutzell, 16, entered pleas of guilty to various charges brought against them by the State's Attorney's office.

Young Hutzell, who has been released in the custody of his parents, was represented by Attorney Fred Anderson. Although the other two men were reminded they could have court-appointed counsel, they decided not to have legal representation.

The two older men, who are being held in the county jail in default of $5,000 each, were brought to the court room by Sheriff Paul C. Haberlein who remanded them to jail after they were arraigned.

Judge Harris ordered that the background on the three residents be obtained by James Lewis, probationary officer.

The three were charged specifically with the burglary of $125 in cash from Albert's Big Circle Market in LaVale on January 31.

They were arrested by Sgt. William F. Baker and Tfc. Milton G. Hart of the State Police and were questioned extensively by police from the LaVale barracks and from Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Other buildings involved in the breaking and enterings are a service station, Columbia Street Elementary School and McCoolle Elementary School.

Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, assisted State Police.

Lewine Heads B'nai B'rith

Officers of Western Maryland Lodge, B'nai B'rith, who were elected Thursday evening in the vestry room of B'er Chayim Temple, will be installed next month.

They are Sander Lewine, president; Paul Steinberger, first vice president; Harry Olin, second vice president; Frank Kaplan, secretary.

Also Harry Stein, treasurer; George Ossip, warden; William Stein, guardian; Robert Goldfine, Robert Gerson and Robert Kaplan, trustees.

Chaplains are Rabbi Max Selinger, spiritual leader of B'er Chayim congregation, and Rabbi Bertram Cohen, spiritual leader of Beth Jacob congregation. President-elect for 1961 is William B. Schindler.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the installation includes Robert Goldfine, Frank Kaplan, Mel Sacks, Meyer Abramson and Harry Stein.

Will Present Music Concert

Ben C. Stevenson, a special field representative of the department of men's work of the United Christian Missionary Society, will present a sacred concert of music at 7:30 p. m. Sunday at First Christian Church on Bedford Street.

The United Society, with which Mr. Stevenson is affiliated, is an international board of Disciples of Christ (Christian) churches which administers Christian education and world missions and provides many services to churches.

In July 1957, Mr. Stevenson received a United Society appointment for full-time work teaching in institutes and conferences on men's work, speaking at retreats, rallies, conventions and local churches and aiding through his gifts as pianist, organist and singer in stimulating and guiding men in religion.

Before his singing career was interrupted by a tour of duty with the U. S. Marines, he sang two seasons with the Metropolitan Opera in New York City.

Two Inmates Declared Not Defective

Third Man Sent Back To Patuxent

Two of three inmates of Patuxent Institute for defective delinquents yesterday were determined not defective delinquents following a hearing in Allegheny County Circuit Court before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris.

Those who were determined not defective delinquents are Robert Hoover Witte, charged with burglary in November 1958 and William Henry Harmon Jr., who had been charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor girl on April 1, 1959.

Phillip L. Miller, charged with breaking and entering the Brock Scrap and Salvage Company on November 23, 1958, taking $291, was determined a defective delinquent and ordered taken back to the Institution by Judge Harris.

The other two inmates are to complete their sentences. Witte was found guilty of statutory burglary and sentenced by Judge Harris to three years in the Maryland House of Correction. Harmon was sentenced last year to not more than two years in the Maryland Reformatory for Males.

Miller had been sentenced to not more than two years in the Reformatory. Testifying yesterday were Dr. Richard Trevasik, local psychiatrist, and Dr. Harold M. Boslow of the Patuxent Institute.

Attorney Thomas N. Berry represented Witte; George R. Hughes Jr. represented Miller and Edward J. Ryan was counsel for Harmon.

House Approves $77 Million Tawes Budget

Representation Action Stalled

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The House of Delegates gave final approval Friday night to Gov. Tawes' 77-million-dollar budget and sent it to the Senate.

The spending program cleared the House with unanimous approval 24 hours after delegates took the initiative from the Senate and began moving it through the Legislature.

Senate Stalled

The Senate version had stalled when Sen. Harry Phoebus (R-Somerset) invoked a rule to postpone discussion of the budget or a day after it had come from committee. It was officially removed from the Senate calendar earlier Friday, and the senators will now confine their actions to the House bill.

Although the budget was moving swiftly, action was much slower on another subject of vital interest to the legislators—reapportionment.

House opponents stalled for the second time Friday a vote on a bill to call a constitutional convention, which could change the representation in the Legislature and submit it to voters for approval.

The Senate followed the House Friday afternoon in killing a move toward reapportionment this year. The bill to add 18 delegates to the House, the bulk of them going to four big counties and Baltimore City, received an unfavorable report by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Sen. Pine (D-Balto County) moved to reject the unfavorable report on the floor but lost 16-12.

Win Delays

Reapportionment opponents in the House are fearful that the constitutional convention bill will be passed if it comes to a vote. It needs only 62 as compared with that 74 that the earlier bill required.

The foes therefore have been using a parliamentary weapon to block the vote. When the bill is brought up, they offer an amendment and then promptly move that consideration be delayed a day. The motion automatically carries if only four delegates support it.

Thursday's amendment was meaningless and was withdrawn when brought up Friday. Del. Caldwell (D-Wicomico) offered another which he assured the House "was not frivolous."

It would convert the present Legislature into the convention delegates. The bill provides for the convention delegates to be elected throughout the state.

Face Deadline

The delaying tactics of the reapportionment opponents will be curtailed after Saturday. On Monday and until the session ends next Wednesday or Thursday, amendments may be laid over only hourly.

Caldwell promised Robinson he would not be a party to any stalling by amendment after disposal this Saturday. Del. Latham (D-Talbot), chairman of the Eastern Shore delegation which is the backbone of the opposition, also said the group would not go along with any more intentional delays.

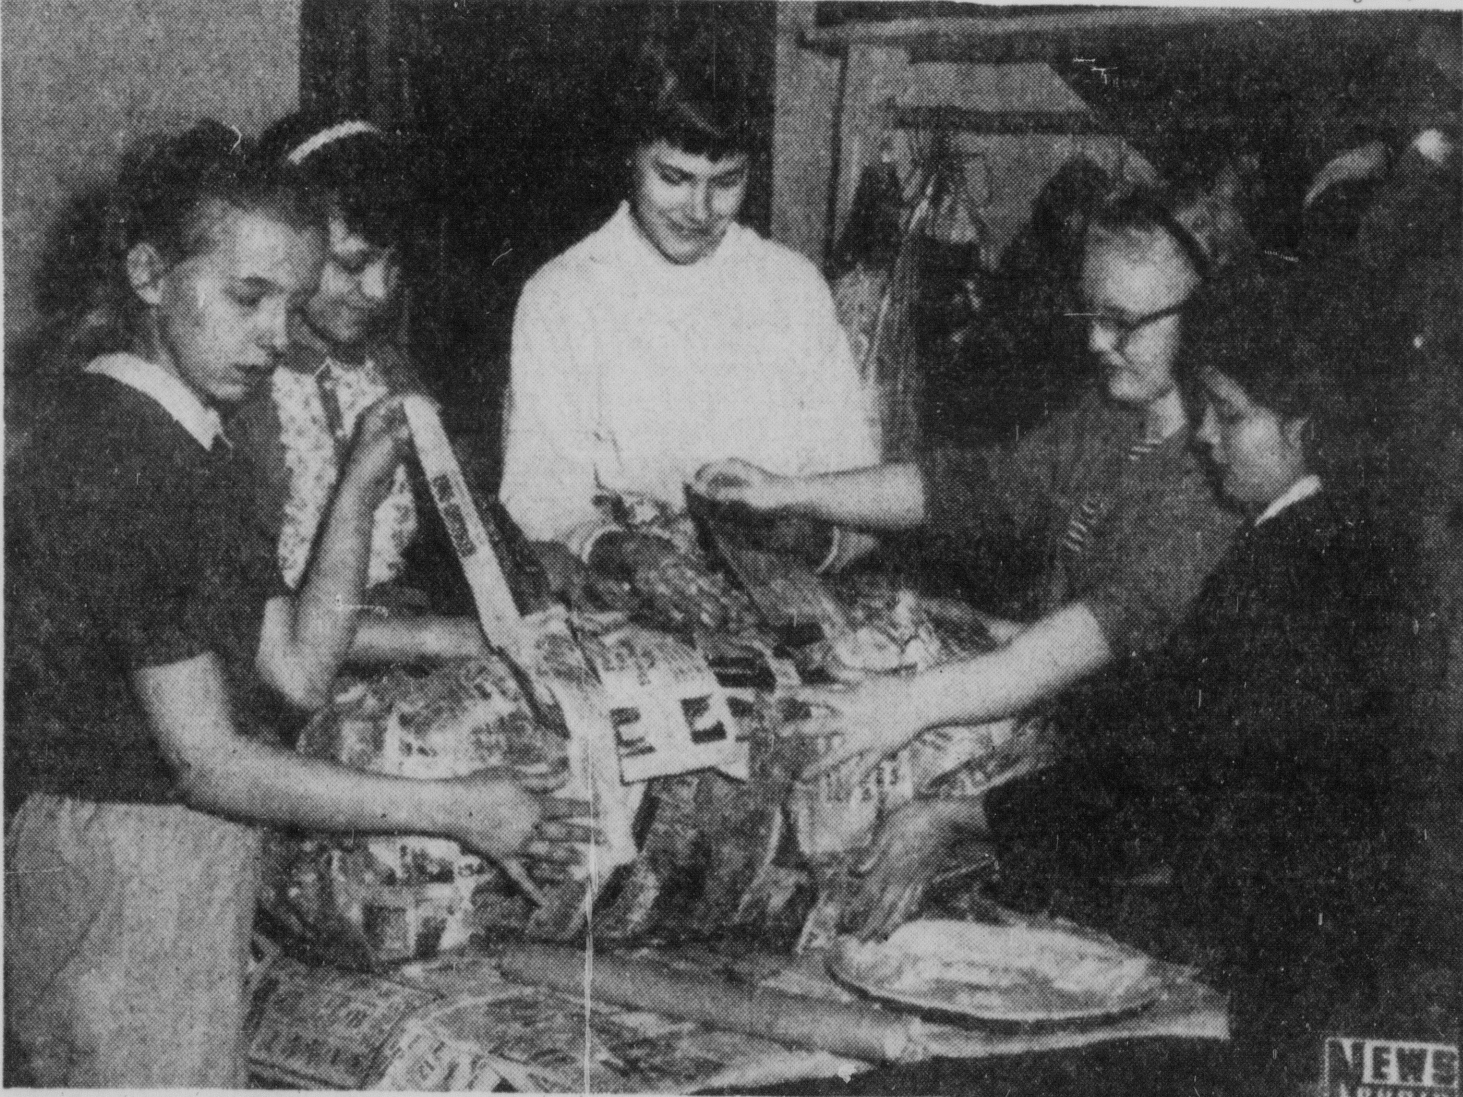

While the idea of increasing the number of delegates was being held up, the House tentatively approved doubling the salaries of future legislators to $3,600 a year.

Can Turn Down

The pay raise effective in 1963 would be on the election ballot in November.

Some members of the Ways and Means Committee expressed apprehension of unfavorable reaction.

Judge Requests Background Study

Three Bowman's Addition residents arrested recently by State Police in connection with a series of burglaries were arraigned yesterday afternoon before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Olin Calvin Miller, 33, James Edward Crowe, 24, and James Allen Hutzell, 16, entered pleas of guilty to various charges brought against them by the State's Attorney's office.

Young Hutzell, who has been released in the custody of his parents, was represented by Attorney Fred Anderson. Although the other two men were reminded they could have court-appointed counsel, they decided not to have legal representation.

The two older men, who are being held in the county jail in default of $5,000 each, were brought to the court room by Sheriff Paul C. Haberlein who remanded them to jail after they were arraigned.

Judge Harris ordered that the background on the three residents be obtained by James Lewis, probationary officer.

The three were charged specifically with the burglary of $125 in cash from Albert's Big Circle Market in LaVale on January 31.

They were arrested by Sgt. William F. Baker and Tfc. Milton G. Hart of the State Police and were questioned extensively by police from the LaVale barracks and from Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Other buildings involved in the breaking and enterings are a service station, Columbia Street Elementary School and McCool Elementary School.

Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, assisted State Police.

The program will include audience singing, a vocal trio and solo and a Bible quiz between Fort Hill and Meyersdale quiz teams. A pre-rally quiz between Allegany and Salisbury teams will be conducted at 7:25 p. m. The public is invited.

BEN STEVENSON

Will Present Music Concert

Ben C. Stevenson, a special field representative of the department of men's work of the United Christian Missionary Society, will present a sacred concert of music at 7:30 p. m. Sunday at First Christian Church on Bedford Street.

The United Society, with which Mr. Stevenson is affiliated, is an international board of Disciples of Christ (Christian) churches which administers Christian education and world missions and provides many services to churches.

In July 1957, Mr. Stevenson received a United Society appointment for full-time work teaching in institutes and conferences on men's work, speaking at retreats, rallies, conventions and local churches and aiding through his gifts as pianist, organist and singer in stimulating and guiding men in religion.

Before his singing career was interrupted by a tour of duty with the U. S. Marines, he sang two seasons with the Metropolitan Opera in New York City.

Two Inmates Declared Not Defective

Third Man Sent Back To Patuxent

Two of three inmates of Patuxent Institute for defective delinquents yesterday were determined not defective delinquents following a hearing in Allegany County Circuit Court before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris.

Those who were determined not defective delinquents are Robert Hoover Witte, charged with burglary in November 1958 and William Henry Harmon Jr., who had been charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor girl on April 1, 1959.

Phillip L. Miller, charged with breaking and entering the Brock Scrap and Salvage Company on November 23, 1958, taking $291, was determined a defective delinquent and ordered taken back to the Institution by Judge Harris.

The other two inmates are to complete their sentences. Witte was found guilty of statutory burglary and sentenced by Judge Harris to three years in the Maryland House of Correction. Harmon was sentenced last year to not more than two years in the Maryland Reformatory for Males.

Miller had been sentenced to not more than two years in the Reformatory.

Testifying yesterday were Dr. Richard Trevasakis, local psychiatrist, and Dr. Harold M. Boslow of the Patuxent Institute.

Attorney Thomas N. Berry represented Witte; George R. Hughes Jr. represented Miller and Edward J. Ryan was counsel for Harmon.

Representation Action Stalled

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The House of Delegates gave final approval Friday night to Gov. Tawes' $77-million-dollar budget and sent it to the Senate.

The spending program cleared the House with unanimous approval 24 hours after delegates took the initiative from the Senate and began moving it through the Legislature.

Senate Stalled

The Senate version had stalled when Sen. Harry Phoebus (R-Somerset) invoked a rule to postpone discussion of the budget for a day after it had come from committee. It was officially removed from the Senate calendar earlier Friday, and the senators will now confine their actions to the House bill.

Although the budget was moving swiftly, action was much slower on another subject of vital interest to the legislators—reapportionment.

House opponents stalled for the second time Friday a vote on a bill to call a constitutional convention, which could change the representation in the Legislature and submit it to voters for approval.

The Senate followed the House Friday afternoon in killing a move toward reapportionment this year. The bill to add 18 delegates to the House, the bulk of them going to four big counties and Baltimore City, received an unfavorable report by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Sen. Pine (D-Balto County) moved to reject the unfavorable report on the floor but lost 16-12.

Win Delays

Reapportionment opponents in the House are fearful that the constitutional convention bill will be passed if it comes to a vote. It needs only 62 as compared with that 74 that the earlier bill required.

The foes therefore have been using a parliamentary weapon to block the vote. When the bill is brought up, they offer an amendment and then promptly move that consideration be delayed a day. The motion automatically carries if only four delegates support it.

Thursday's amendment was meaningless and was withdrawn when brought up Friday. Del. Caldwell (D-Wicomico) offered another which he assured the House "was not frivolous."

It would convert the present Legislature into the convention delegates. The bill provides for the convention delegates to be elected throughout the state.

Face Deadline

"The amendment may not be frivolous, but it's certainly deadly," commented Del. Robinson (D-Balto 4th), sponsor of the bill.

The delaying tactics of the reapportionment opponents will be curtailed after Saturday. On Monday and until the session ends next Wednesday or Thursday, amendments may be laid over only hourly.

Caldwell promised Robinson he would not be a party to any stalling by amendment after disposal this Saturday. Del. Latham (D-Talbot), chairman of the Eastern Shore delegation which is the backbone of the opposition, also said the group would not go along with any more intentional delays.

While the idea of increasing the number of delegates was being held up, the House tentatively approved doubling the salaries of future legislators to $3,600 a year.

Can Turn Down

The pay raise effective in 1963 would be on the election ballot in November.

Some members of the Ways and Means Committee expressed apprehension of unfavorable reaction.

Girl Scouts Work On Scenery

This group of Girl Scouts participated in a workshop at the Girl Scout House where work in papier mache was demonstrated. The girls are helping construct some of the scenery and props which will be used in the spring pageant. Girls working on a first class rating and needing credit for constructing scenery took advantage of the workshop to earn this classification. Shown are Joni Lynn Bean, Barbara Rhodes, Jane Zimowski, Vickie Baker and Linda Holtzman.
